Pine Orders Steel Mills Back to Owners, Rejects Government Plea to Delay Action; 650,000 Workers Expected to Be on Strike

General Scores in Massachusetts With His Most Decisive Victory

Eisenhower Gets All but One of 28 Delegates in Primary

Boston, April 30 (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower wiped out most of Sen. Robert A. Taft's lead in the race for Republican presidential nomination today, rolling up more than 200,000 popular votes in the Massachusetts primary and winning all but one of the 28 delegate elections.

It was Eisenhower's most decisive victory since the campaign began.

And it was enhanced by a surprising endorsement from Massachusetts Democrats who put him in second place behind the expected winner of their poll, Sen. Estes Kefauver, of Tennessee.

The GOP delegate score went to Eisenhower by 27-1 over Taft, Two each were allotted two others, who ran unopposed. Six remain uncommitted.

The added 29 for Eisenhower gave him a total of 265, as computed by the Associated Press. Taft, winning three, moved his national total to 268. (His organization claims 305.)

More Than 69 Per Cent

As the returns continued to come in, Eisenhower had more than 69 per cent of the total popular vote. His tally on that ballot alone was greater than the combined votes cast for all other candidates, Republican and Democratic.

Latest figures showed in 1645 precincts out of 1739:

Republicans

Eisenhower 219,213, Taft 94,999, MacArthur 2,042, Warren 1,331, Stassen 1,138.

Democrats

Kefauver 26,703, Eisenhower 14,549, Truman 6,911, Taft 5,208, Dever 2,147, Stevenson 1,192, Russell 624.

Are Not Binding

All the votes were write-ins, and the results of the "popularity contest" section of the ballot are not binding on delegates from either party.

No write-ins were reported for two other avowed Democratic candidates, W. Averill Harriman, of New York, director of the Mutual Security Agency, and Sen. Robert Kerr, of Oklahoma.

The total vote for both parties broke a Massachusetts primary

Strike Call Is Sent Out By Murray

Pickets Orderly

Quiet Settles After Early Scuffles, Breaking of Windows

Pittsburgh, April 30 (AP)—Steelworkers who struck when a federal judge said Uncle Sam couldn't be their boss throttled steel production today in the quickest steel plant shutdown in history.

A complete halt in America's defense-vital steel industry within hours seems certain. About 650,000 workers are idle—or soon will be.

Mill after mill went dark and silent as companies and union maintenance crews banked furnace after furnace following hours of confusion at the start of the walkout last night.

President Philip Murray of both the CIO and the CIO United Steelworkers ordered the strike when a federal judge ruled President Truman acted illegally in seizing the steel industry April 9 to avert a strike on that day.

Damage Is Feared

Executives had feared the unprecedented haste with which workers poured out of the plants would result in extensive damage to costly equipment. But their worries appeared largely groundless except for scattered instances.

In many plants workers made sure maintenance standby crews remained to cool off furnaces when the rest of the employes picked up their lunch boxes and headed for home.

At Cleveland, Republic Steel Corp. reported its plants throughout the nation will be completely shutdown within three hours. Republic officials said no damage has been done to steelmaking facilities.

In the past, steel companies have taken two and three days to complete an orderly shutdown process. The current strike seems destined to do the job in well under 24 hours.

Picketing Is Orderly

Picketing was orderly everywhere after one or two scuffles and window breakings which marked the excitement at the strike's start last night.

Judge Prepares Steel Case Ruling

Federal District Judge David A. Pine works on legal papers in his chambers in Washington while preparing his ruling in the steel seizure case. Judge Pine later in the day granted preliminary injunctions to restrain the government from carrying out the steel industry seizure any longer. (AP Wirephoto).

Appeal Is Indicated In Matter

U.S. Counsel Files Notice to Seek Release From Ruling—Exchange Is Sharp

Questions Damage

On Item of Bonds Judge Snaps at Baldridge as Regards Truman

Washington, April 30 (AP) — U. S. District Judge David A. Pine signed formal orders today directing the return of seized steel mills to their owners and then turned down a government plea to delay the effectiveness of the order.

These legal formalities cleared the way for the government to appeal to a higher court Pine's ruling that President Truman's seizure of the steel industry was illegal.

Holmes Baldridge, chief government attorney, immediately filed notice of appeal.

The next step presumably will involve a government request to the U. S. Court of Appeals to overturn Pine's decision.

Baldrige and his associates returned to the Justice Department after the brief proceedings in Pine's court.

No Immediate Comment

Baldridge had no immediate comment after Pine's decision and refused to tell reporters when the government will press its appeal action.

The injunction order signed by Judge Pine says:

"The defendant (Secretary of Commerce Sawyer) his officers, agents, servants, employes and attorneys and those persons in active concert or participation with them who receive actual notice of this order by personal service, or otherwise, be, and hereby are, enjoined and restrained from continuing the seizure and possession of the plants, facilities and properties of the plaintiff and from acting under the purported authority of Executive Order No. 10340."

There is more to the order, but that is the heart of it. Executive Order 10340 was the seizure order issued by President Truman on April 8.

Sawyer Is Defendant

Sawyer is the defendant in the case because Truman directed the secretary of commerce to carry out the seizure.

Baldridge, in reply to a question by the judge, said he had no objection to the form of the order.

But when the question of bonds was raised, Baldridge said: "We do not think the damages are normal. We think they are incalculable."

Attorneys for the six steel companies which brought suits challenging the seizure had asked for "normal" bonds in connection with Pine's order, technically a temporary injunction.

Court rules require the posting of such bonds when temporary injunctions are issued. The purpose is to protect the defendant—in this case Sawyer—from damages.

Bond Fixed at $100

Judge Pine agreed with the steel companies and fixed bond at $100, in each case.

Pine commented that Sawyer, as the defendant, would not lose any salary and would not have to pay any attorney fees pending a final determination of the case.

87,000 Oil Workers Quit; Negotiations Are Continued

Further Cuts Seen Possible in Senate

Ferguson Says Action Shows Reductions Can Be Exceeded

Washington, April 30 (AP)—Sen. Ferguson (R.-Mich.) said today that Senate action on its first two 1953 money bills demonstrates that reductions voted by the House can be sustained and exceeded.

The Senate passed the two measures in a short session yesterday after cutting them a total of 41 million dollars below the House figures.

The bills now go to conference with the House to adjust the differences. One carries $3,394,047,000 to run the treasury and post-office department in the fiscal year starting July 1. The other contains $1,786,579,000 for labor and federal security agencies.

A single cut—of about 45 millions—in the provisions for postal operations took care of the bulk of the Senate-approved reductions. In most of the other allotments, the Senate increased slightly the House-passed totals.

Talks Are Conducted on Plant-by-Plant Basis—10,000 Stay On

Denver, April 30 (AP) — Approximately 87,000 oil workers throughout the nation began laying down their tools today as a strike of union refinery and pipeline workers got under way at 12:01 a. m. Negotiations continued meanwhile on their demands for a 25-cent hourly wage increase and improved shift differentials.

Present wages reportedly average between $2 and $2.10 an hour. A union spokesman said union and management generally were about 10 cents apart when the strike began.

Present extra pay for night work is 4 cents an hour for the 4 p. m. to midnight shift and 6 cent for the midnight to 8 a. m. trick. The union wants these differentials increased to 6 and 12 cents, respectively.

Will Require Time

Negotiations are being conducted on a plant-by-plant basis and the exact strike picture will require some time to clarify. Some 200 separate contracts are involved.

Government officials reported they had no present intention of intervening.

Negotiations in some locales were reported progressing on a note of optimism especially in San Francisco where about 25,000 union-affiliated industry workers were represented in talks — none of them on strike.

The Oil Workers International Union (CIO) in Denver had requested 10,000 members in California to remain on the job so as not to hinder operations for the Korean war effort.

May Hit Motorists

Motorists are expected to be hit hardest by a prolonged strike.

Some shortages of natural gas are anticipated through the idling of pipeline crews. The east coast is in for a shortage of natural gas piped from the midwest and southwest, OWIU officials stated.

O. A. Knight, president of the OWIU, said slightly less than half the nation's production of refined oil products will be cut off.

"Our union is immediately shutting down refineries with a daily production totalling approximately 2,200,000 barrels daily," he said. "Independent and AFL unions are expected to close refineries with a daily capacity of about 650,000 barrels daily."

Will Hamper Refineries

Closing of certain pipelines probably will hamper additional refineries, extending the strike.

All shutdowns were reportedly orderly, with union personnel al-

Russians Ground Fighter Aircraft at Major Jet Bases

Contradictory Charges Are Made by Russians and Allies Over Incident

Berlin, April 30 (AP)—The Russians grounded nearly all their fighter planes in the eastern zone of Germany today—an obvious result of the shooting attack by the two MIG jets on an Air France airliner.

Soviet officers told the Four Power Air Safety Center that training flights were conducted this morning only in one area of Saxony.

No flights were posted for the major jet bases at Elstal, Schoenfeld, and Dallgow nor for half a dozen smaller fields.

Flying activity was limited to the Koethen base—but that was precisely the spot where the two Soviet fighters pumped cannon shells and machinegun bullets into the French plane yesterday, wounding two German passengers

Gasoline Stocks Are at Record Peak

Spot Shortages Might Come but Otherwise Supply Is Plentiful

New York, April 30 (AP)—The strike in the oil industry today comes at a time when stocks of gasoline are at an all-time high.

Industry sources said the walkout of union workers could result in some spot shortages of gasoline, but expressed belief these would be of a local nature.

Gasoline stocks customarily build up at refineries, storage and bulk stations during the winter period of lessened driving requirements. They now are at their seasonal high level, as spring and summer motoring demand is about to rise.

Fuel oils used in industry, conversely, are at a normally low level for this period of the year.

But even here, no great concern is felt over prospects of an adequate supply.

Kingston Point Acreage Is Advertised for Sale

Its Disposition as Oil Storage and Other Industry Is Pending

A New York firm which owns the former Kingston Point Park property is advertising it for sale, it was learned today.

The 12½ acres which for many years was a picturesque park tract known along the navigable length of the Hudson river, is now owned by Rossback, Kranz & Wolper, of New York, who acquired it some time ago from the Indian Point Corp.

Advertised as a suitable place for the storage of oil or for other industrial purposes, the land, it is expected, is more likely to be sold for such purposes, and if so, the sale probably will not open the way for stops here by boats of the Hudson River Day Line.

The river line has made arrangements to resume trips between New York and Catskill,

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, April 30 (AP)—Search planes combed vast, unexplored Brazilian jungles and desert-like plateaus today for a luxurious Pan-American stratocruiser which vanished en route to New York with 50 persons aboard.

Nineteen of them—the crew of nine and 10 passengers—were Americans.

The new firehouse of Hurley Fire District No. 1, under construction since last November, is completed and the first meeting of the fire company in its new quarters is scheduled for Monday night.

Public dedication of the one-story firehouse and recreation hall will be held at a date to be announced.

Acceptance of the building by the Board of Fire Commissioners was accomplished at a meeting of the board on Thursday, April 24. At that time the building, constructed according to his plans and specifications, was approved by Architect Augustus R. Schrowang, and then was turned over by the contractor to the fire commissoners.

Located just off Route 209 in the village of Hurley, the building is of concrete block construction, 96 feet deep and 42 feet wide, with its front facing of brick. In addition to space for fire equipment, the building contains a 40 by 48 foot auditorium suitable for dancing, a kitchen, restrooms, office and furnace room.

The "go-ahead" signal on its construction was given in the spring of 1951, when voters approved the remodeling and addition to the existing firehouse at a cost not to exceed $22,000.

After bids were opened on October 30, Nissen and Anderson were named general contractors. Plumbing has been by Winfred Snyder, heating by A. R. Newcombe Co., and electrical contracting by Kendall Vogt.

The electric range in the kitchen of the firehouse has been given by Roger Ten Eyck.

At the time of the public dedication, the Hurley Fire Department's new tank truck, now being readied for use, is expected to be placed in service. The district's pumper is already housed in the new building.

Edmund Czerwinski is chairman of the board of fire commissioners. Other members include Stanley Matthews, secretary, Lyman T. Schoonmaker, Henry Battenfeldt and Andrew Lehtonen. LeRoy Vogt is treasurer of the district.

President of the fire company is Stanton Warren and the chief is Winfred Snyder.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, April 30 (AP)—The position of the treasury April 26: Net budget receipts $102,448,383.15. Budget expenditures $211,475,817.25. Cash balance $5,511,049,030.65. Customs receipts for month $41,872,854.55. Budget receipts fiscal year July 1 $48,293,388,387.53. Budget expenditures fiscal year $52,691,164,746.74. Budget deficit $4,397,776,359.21. Contractor, Local Reach Agreement

Washington, April 30 (AP)—A contractor and an AFL union local have reached an agreement ending the threat of aerial picketing of the capitol.

The dispute involved the hiring by contractor L. R. Brown, Roanoke, Va., of non-union painters to work on the capitol dome.

The Painters Union local protested and the job was deferred while conferences were held. Brown said today he will use union painters and the job will be resumed in a few days.

It is illegal to picket on federal grounds. But union officials said they considered using airplanes to circle the capitol, trailing "unfair" signs and dropping balloons in protest against using non-union painters.

Eight American Airmen Killed

Tokyo, April 30 (AP) — Eight American airmen were killed in two transport plane crashes in southern Japan within 12 hours, the Far East Air Forces announced today.

A C-46 transport on a routine investigational flight crashed into the rim of Mt. Aso, 550 miles southwest of Tokyo this morning. FEAF said all four crewmen were killed.

A C-119 cargo-transport hit a ridge last night on an instrument approach to Ashiya Air Base on Kyushu Island. FEAF said its four airmen were killed.

Names of all crewmen were withheld.

Hudson Jury Recesses

Hudson, N. Y., April 30 (AP)—The special grand jury looking into crime and corruption in Columbia county will resume work next Tuesday. The jurors recessed yesterday after hearing a dozen witnesses. Thomas Mason, assistant chief counsel to Special Prosecutor Paul W. Williams, said the session involved investigation of a dice game and the numbers racket. He said no "big time operators" appeared.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, APRIL 30, 1952

Y.M.C.A. FINANCIAL DRIVE

The Kingston Y.M.C.A. annual financial campaign for $22,500 is now underway and it should receive the wholehearted support of the residents of this community.

The local Y.M.C.A. seeks the financial assistance of the public because it renders public services, which must be met by public subscription. Without adequate public support, the program of youth activities for all the young people of the community could not be continued because the cost to most of the youth served would be prohibitive. The public services rendered the youth of this city by the Kingston Y.M.C.A. for the past 86 years fully justify its support. If these public services for our youth are to be continued, and they should be continued, the local institution must receive generous public support.

The extent of the participation in the local Y.M.C.A. program by the youth of the community is daily in evidence at the "Y" the year round. In the Boys' Department alone there are over 400 boys enrolled.

As brought out by the speakers in the campaign, an institution which provides recreation and leisure time activities for the sole purpose of building strong minds and bodies for a better life, socially and spiritually, together with its positive program for effective citizenship deserves the support of the community.

One hundred members of the community, who enthusiastically subscribe to the program of the Kingston Y.M.C.A., have volunteered to make the solicitations for financial aid that this program might be continued. When they come to your home, it will be well to remember these youth services and take advantage of the opportunity to share in these services.

CAPTIVES OR CAPTORS

Mutinous convicts at the Southern Michigan prison have won a victory through violence. In order to assure the safety of nine hostages held by the prisoners the warden agreed to eleven demands for reform. These demands were also agreed to by the Governor of Michigan. When felons behind bars can dictate prison policy to enforcement officials and to the governor of a state some examination of the causes is in order.

It is understandable that the warden should accede to the prisoners' demands to protect the guards held as hostages. But why were the prisoners able to take hostages? Men isolated from the world and supposedly under constant guard were able to make captives of their captors. This indicates a lack of discipline and security at the institution where it happened.

Many American prisons are poorly built and overcrowded. Appropriations for their administration are insufficient. In many, modern correctional techniques are unknown. The outbreak at Michigan, and the similar riot in a New Jersey prison, are symptoms of something wrong with the penal system as a whole.

A thorough investigation of the factors that made the revolt possible may reveal the reforms that are needed. Prisons are built to teach criminals that violence and anti-social behavior pay poor dividends. Incidents such as the Michigan mutiny defeat that purpose.

MONUMENT FOR MANN

The United States could never have reached the position it has in the world without its system of public education. A great deal of the credit for that system must go to Horace Mann, educator and statesman, who spent his whole life fighting for the cause of public education.

Mann first won prominence as an attorney and a politician in Massachusetts. He left his political career to become secretary of the Massachusetts Board of Education. In 1839 he founded the first public normal school in the United States. As editor of the Common School Journal he spread his ideas through the land.

His birthday is celebrated on May 4. Mann won a place in the Hall of Fame in 1900. But his true monument is in the thousands of school buildings throughout the country where children from all social and economic groups study together the principles of democracy.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

GUILT BY ASSOCIATION

Ham Fisher, the cartoonist, bribed me into writing about his character, "Joe Palooka," by introducing me to one of the most beautiful and wittiest women I have met in many years. Thus, I find myself guilty of association with a cartoonist, which is crossing the line for a writer, or vice versa, depending upon which side of the line one originally stood. Considering that the lady at issue is the wife of a publisher for whom "Joe Palooka" and I slave, to say nothing of Ham Fisher, it was indeed giving not the apple but Eve herself to a bewildered Adam. The association was not one of guilt but of charm.

Few instances of guilt by association are of this nature. Most such accusations arise from errors of commission. For instance, there is usually an objection to accusing a so-called naive person, a professor in a college, or a writer, or a philosopher, of a preference for Communists merely because he joins the Communists in their efforts to destroy America. The excuse is often given that these innocent persons did what they did because they did not then know what they know now.

This stereotype explanation is hard to accept, particularly when those who seek to paint themselves as simple children in a dark woods are, for business reasons, professors in our universities profoundly discussing intricate and erudite topics, writers of books, magazine and newspaper articles and motion pictures, clergymen, actors, and musicians, astronomers, philosophers and poets. They demand recognition as simpletons in their political activities.

J. Edward Hoover, who is expert on this subject, once said before a congressional committee:

". . . The only way you can determine whether an individual is or is not a Communist is through an investigation of the background of the man and his associations and contacts. The Communist-front organizations are the parrots or the 'Charlie McCarthys' for the Communist Party. Those organizations can be determined by just analyzing how they follow the party line."

The head of the FBI further said:

"The trend has been toward the perfection of a highly developed underground apparatus and decentralization of Communist Party operations. This decentralization has almost tripled the number of Communist Party clubs, the purpose being to do away with their congregating in such large groups. As a security measure, no Communist Party membership cards were issued in 1949. The maintenance of membership records has been discontinued. Members speak in a jargon of double talk, and use codes in correspondence. A courier system has been substituted to protect confidential party communications. Public meetings are maintained at an absolute minimum. Party records have been destroyed or removed to clandestine hiding places. Secret printing facilities and supplies have been secreted for future underground operations. Transfers of party members from one district to another are now controlled through the use of an elaborate identification system."

This ought to be known to an intelligent person who has watched the Hiss, Remington, Coplon, Rosenberg, and other Communist trials in our courts and who has paid attention to the hearings before the McCarran Committee and the House Committe on Un-American Activities. But intelligence and emotions do not always, or even often, go hand-in-hand and there are still those who believe that Alger Hiss is innocent in spite of the record of the trials. So where do we get to?

The phrase, "guilt by association," in its present use, is a Communist term. They have been very skilful in inventing such phrases or in twisting good words to have bad meaning. They have, for instance, with rare genius used the word, democracy, as a substitute for America. They do not say "this country," or "the United States" or "America"; they say "this democracy," "our American democracy," "democracy." It is a propagandistic device which has been very successful.

These people would say that because Ham Fisher is associated with me by the device of introducing me to a lovely lady, that does not make me a cartoonist; therefore, if a writer follows the Stalinist line on all occasions, that does not make him a Communist. This type of reasoning by analogy is a logical crime deserving manslaughter in the first degree, at least.

The facts are as J. Edgar Hoover states them. The logic is with him, not in far-fetched analogies.

ALCOHOLISM AND VITAMINS

Now that alcoholism is likely soon to be taken out of the hands of the law, and physicians and hospitals, general and special, will be taking over the care and treatment of its victims, it is of great interest to us all to see the information now given to the public about this important subject.

Just a few years ago we learned from the Yale School for Study of Alcohol and Alcoholism that there was something lacking in the constitution or make-up of the alcoholic that caused him to so greatly feel the need for alcohol that it came first in his life. That this lack in the alcoholic's make-up may be due to not getting enough of certain foodstuffs is now stated by Dr. Roger J. Williams of the Biochemical Institute, University of Texas, in his book "Nutrition and Alcoholism."

While the majority of individuals are guided by their appetites as to the proper foods and amounts of these foods to eat, it appears that this is not true of many people, including alcoholics.

"In animal experiments rats were given a choice between water and 10 per cent alcohol. Some drank heavily, others were teetotalers. When these animals were placed on marginal diets, lacking sufficient amounts of various B vitamins, the differences disappeared and all animals consumed alcohol at a fairly high level. The consumption of alcohol dropped with abundant diets. Alcoholic, vitamin-deficient rats dosed with the vitamins they lacked, ceased to drink as long as the missing elements were supplied.

Dr. Williams believes that in alcoholism the nutritive or food requirements are influenced by heredity. The heredity trait which predisposes toward alcoholism is the possession of unusually high requirements for certain food elements. If they do not get these food elements required, then they turn to alcohol. However, "if the individual with this heredity factor in his make-up is able to get—by any available means—plenty of all the nutritional elements he needs, then the disease, alcoholism, does not appear and the hereditary trait, which otherwise would be damaging, is completely overcome.

What are the food elements which alcoholics lack and so turn to alcohol?

Dr. Williams states that it is the various B vitamins that are lacking in the diets of alcoholics, that is, their particular constitution or make-up calls for a high quantity and quality of the B vitamins. Foods rich in B vitamins are: almonds, green asparagus, bacon, whole wheat bread, butter, carrots, sweet canned corn, "greens," ham, beef liver, malted milk, parsnips, peanuts, peas, dried prunes, spinach, wheat germ, yeast.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—For the first time since Queen Marie of Roumania visited the United States uninvited during the Hoover administration, Washington will welcome an uninvited chief-of-state this week. He is Gen. Anastasio Somoza, the president—and dictator—of Nicaragua.

President Somoza was not invited to visit the U. S. A., but he's coming anyway. He has to go to the Leahy Clinic in Boston for an operation and sent word that since he would have to be in the United States, he would not think of neglecting to pay a return visit to the man who as "Senator Harry Truman" had paid him a visit while investigating the Pan American Highway as chairman of the War Investigating Committee.

Under these circumstances there wasn't much the White House could do about it, so President Somoza, arriving tomorrow, will be given a quiet luncheon by President Truman.

Reason neither the State Department nor the White House particularly relishes an official visit from the chief of state of Nicaragua is first, because our official policy is to ignore and discourage dictators; second, because President Somoza has consistenly upset democratic elections held under the guidance of the United States.

During the Coolidge administration, Henry L. Stimson, later secretary of state, was sent to Nicaragua to smooth out a nasty revolution and arrange to evacuate U. S. Marines. He organized a Nicaraguan National Guard, trained by the marines; also held elections under American supervision. General Somoza did so well under the U. S. Marines that he became head of the National Guard. However, after the United States staged its free and fair election, supervised by Harold Dodds, now president of Princeton, General Somoza, trained by the United States, waited for our marines to evacuate, then threw out the duly elected president—his uncle—and became president himself.

Nicaraguan Nepotism

After about 12 years of ruling Nicaragua, General Somoza got bored, installed a puppet, Dr. Leonardo Arguello, as president. President Arguello, however, had the nerve to demote Somoza's son-in-law as head of the public health department, relieved Somoza's elder son as inspector general of the National Guard, and relieved another Somoza son as commander of the presidential guard.

Finally the new president started to oust another Somoza son-in-law Bill Sevilla-Sacasa, as ambassador to the United States. Somoza's daughter, Lillian, however, enjoyed the bright life of Washington, so such a move could not be tolerated. Whereupon Somoza's supposedly puppet president found himself thrown out of the palace with General Somoza once again assuming, the role of dictator.

Note—President Roosevelt, less worried about dictators than Harry Truman, officially invited President Somoza to Washington twice. "He may be an SOB," said FDR, "but he's our SOB."

Truman vs. Newspapers

Newspaper publishers probably didn't know it, but President Truman's off-the-cuff remark about power to seize the press may have blocked certain antimonopoly moves by the justice department against certain newspapers.

For some time the Justice Department has been considering broad anti-trust prosecution of newspapers having a near monopoly of news in their areas. Two such moves already have been made, on a limited scale.

One against the New Orleans Times-Picayune was on the basis of unfair advertising practices, while the second and more sweeping case against the Lorain Ohio Journal resulted in a Supreme Court decision that any newspaper across state lines was engaged in interstate commerce.

The Lorain Journal case actually involved only the monopoly question of refusal of a newspaper to take ads, if advertisers also patronized a competing radio station. However, Justice Burton, who happens to come from Cleveland, Ohio, adjacent to Lorain, and who is considered the most conservative member of the court, went further than the Justice Department expected in upholding its position.

Armed with this 7-0 ruling, written by a Republican, the Justice Department was considering broad moves against various newspapers on monopoly charges.

Prior Monopoly Moves

Previous to the Lorain Journal case, the Justice Department actually had considered three monopoly suits. One was against the Rochester, N. Y., Times Union and Democratic Chronicle, owned by Frank Gannett, who also owns a radio station in Rochester. Another was against the Omaha World-Herald which also operates a radio station; and the third was against the Kansas City Times and Star and its radio station.

After careful consideration—prior to the Lorain Journal decision—it was decided not to move against the Gannett newspapers in Rochester because that city is located in the northwest part of New York state and not close enough to the Pennsylvania border to have any appreciable interstate circulation. Such circulation was considered important to show that the paper was engaged in interstate commerce.

Instead of Rochester, it was tentatively decided to proceed against the Kansas City Star and Times which, located on the Missouri river, have a heavy circulation in both Kansas and Missouri; also against the Omaha World-Herald, which circulates substantially in both Iowa and Nebraska.

Confidential fact is that a grand jury was virtually called to consider the case against the Kansas City Star. But when the matter came to the attention of the White House, President Truman put his foot down, on the ground that any prosecution of a newspaper critical of him would boomerang.

All these moves were prior to the Supreme Court decision in the Lorain Journal case, which ruled that a paper using a press service and receiving news across state lines was in interstate commerce. After this, it was no longer necessary for the Justice Department to confine its monopoly prosecutions to newspapers located on state borders, such as the Kansas City Star. Thus, the entire newsmonopoly picture was re-examined with a view to other and wider suits.

However, in view of the President's press-conference statement about power over newspapers and the subsequent resolution of censure passed by the publishers, future anti-monopoly moves are now considered highly unlikely.

Note—Actually, Justice Department officials believe that moves to break up news monopoly would lessen any danger of government control over the press. They argue that experience in other countries shows that when news channels become too centralized, it's easier for a government to take them over. Some publishers concur in this.

Judge Pine's Decision Places Steel Dispute in Category Where It Belongs

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 30 — Far away as it may seem at the moment, the net effect of the decision by Judge Pine in his historic pronouncement—that a president has no inherent powers except those derived from laws on the statute books—will be to place the steel controversy back where it belongs, namely, in the hands of the unions and the companies themselves to settle by collective bargaining.

There was no excuse for the seizure, no excuse for the first strike call and no excuse for giving to the public, as President Truman did, a distorted version of what had happened to bring about the seizure. There is evidence that the dispute could have been settled by negotiation and a workable compromise.

For, despite all the protestations to the contrary by Price Stabilizer Arnall, for instance, that the companies were not entitled to more than the increase in price provided for by the so-called Capehart formula, the Office of Price Stabilization has, since the seizure, revised the method of measuring the Capehart price change and has authorized a straight $3 a ton. Such an assurance before seizure would have been a factor helping to prevent a break in the negotiations.

On top of this—although not hitherto known to the public—the same Office of Price Stabilization now has revealed that it did recently approve a $1.50 additional price increase over and above the $3, thus making a total of $4.50 a ton. Mr. Arnall says he will not offer it again, but it is a damaging admission nevertheless that the administration has not told the public what it has been doing all the time it has been claiming that $3 was its limit on the price side.

Now the steel companies have said that around $5.50 would be a fair basis for settlement. So the two sides have been coming closer and closer together. Judge Pine, therefore, performed a great service in insisting that the Constitution be respected. For, in ordering the steel plants turned back to their owners, in effect he said that this problem could be dealt with by the parties or by a law of Congress. Both Houses are in session and could enact legislation authorizing seizure and banning a strike if so desired.

Official Washington is rapidly coming to realize that seizure settles nothing and that in this instance the CIO union relied on seizure as a means of getting their demands fulfilled, for it was announced that the administration was ready to impose the terms which had been recommended by the Wage Stabilization Board. As long as the CIO had the government to rely on to back up its demands and as long as the government was unwilling to permit a price increase to the steel companies to offset added wage costs, there was an impasse.

Judge Pine's decision clears the air and puts the problem back where it belongs—in the hands of the parties at interest.

But what of the national emergency and the loss in steel production? What kind of emergency? It's also an emergency when the constitution is violated, public confidence in our institutions is undermined, and private property is rendered insecure. It's an emergency, to be sure, when the government wants steel produced for national defense but lately the government itself has "stretched out" the defense program, and especially aircraft production, for a period of from three to five years. Is the emergency to be considered of five-year duration? If so, the laws of the land should provide standards for executive action or for the settlement of labor-management disputes during such a quasi-permanent condition of affairs.

Judge Pine's comments during the arguments indicated how he would rule. He is a fearless judge devoted to constitutional law. So anyone familiar with constitutional principles was not surprised at his decision.

The situation now turns on the legal side to the Supreme Court of the United States. The Department of Justice had planned, even before Judge Pine's opinion was known, to docket the case in the Circuit Court of Appeals, ask for a stay of execution so as to be able to maintain the status quo—which means a continuance of seizure—and then go direct to the Supreme Court. Mr. Murray's strike call, if maintained, would run counter to an order of the court to hold things at their previous position until the Supreme Court can hand down its opinion.

But with both sides knowing now that seizure is not legal or likely to be upheld, the ball passes to the disputants to settle their issues or else Congress will enact a law providing for compulsory arbitration. And that's something neither side would want to see happen.

Adhering to the constitution is the safest course even if it means a new strike. For, as Senator Maybank of South Carolina, Democrat, chairman of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, and other members of Congress have wisely said—there are many things worse than a steel strike, and one of them is the destruction of the Constitution of the United States. Judge Pine himself made the same point.

President Truman is placed in a very embarrassing position by Judge Pine's decision, for, though he tried by a published letter Sunday night to modify what had been said in court, the basic principles which Mr. Truman had sought to establish — inherent power to seize private property—were not upheld. Does this mean that the House of Representatives now has a better case for impeachment? The court record is a piece of damaging evidence of the purpose of the President and the drive for impeachment probably will get added momentum now.

Notes on Garden Chores for Spring

By HENRY PREE
Written for NEA Service

Lawns infested with dandelions, plantain, ground ivy and creeping veronica can be freed of these weeds if an application of 2,4-D spray is applied on a warm day.

The chemical is powerful and care must be taken not to get any on shrubs or flowers. Do not spray on a windy day. It is best applied through a plastic sprinkler on a gallon jug.

Do not use a sprinkling can or your garden sprayer because it is almost impossible to clean them out after filling them with 2, 4-D. Keep this gallon jug and its applicator only for your 2, 4-D, which is sold under trade names.

Most asparagus and rhubarb beds will appreciate some attention at this time. Both kinds of plants are heavy users of nitrogen and will respond well to a feeding of a 10-6-4 fertilizer or a heavy mulch of manure.

The old gardener advises against the use of salt on the asparagus bed to kill the weeds. Salt in a sufficient quantity to kill weeds would seriously damage the asparagus roots. So get busy and either hoe out the weeds or pull them by hand. Home gardeners who want to increase their asparagus can plant new roots right now.

It is best to purchase one-year-old crowns instead of dividing old plants. Rhubarb plants can be divided at this time or new roots purchased.

Many perennial herbaceous plants, such as the Japanese anemones, hardy chrysanthemums, phlox and autumn blooming asters should be moved now. It these are lifted, divided and replanted soon they will recover and bloom this year.

If you intend to move some of your hybrid tea roses do not put off this chore too long. Roses move best before new growth appears. Cut out all dead canes before pruning and then be stingy, as better and more roses will result from plants with several long canes.

Feed all your roses with a plant food strong in phosphorous and potash. Newly planted roses should be hilled up for two or three weeks with soil or peat moss to prevent drying out of the wood, to retard top growth and to encourage root growth.

Among the glories of the garden are the plant hybrid delphiniums. The Galahad series of Pacific hybrids, with pure glistening white blooms attaining a height of five to six feet, are especially noteworthy. When three or four of these plants are set in a group, few, if any, perennials can approach them for sheer beauty and grace.

It has been estimated that only one-third of all American children are born in hospitals.

Y.M.C.A. FINANCIAL DRIVE

The Kingston Y.M.C.A. annual financial campaign for $22,500 is now underway and it should receive the wholehearted support of the residents of this community.

The local Y.M.C.A. seeks the financial assistance of the public because it renders public services, which must be met by public subscription. Without adequate public support, the program of youth activities for all the young people of the community could not be continued because the cost to most of the youth served would be prohibitive. The public services rendered the youth of this city by the Kingston Y.M.C.A. for the past 86 years fully justify its support. If these public services for our youth are to be continued, and they should be continued, the local institution must receive generous public support.

The extent of the participation in the local Y.M.C.A. program by the youth of the community is daily in evidence at the "Y" the year round. In the Boys' Department alone there are over 400 boys enrolled.

As brought out by the speakers in the campaign, an institution which provides recreation and leisure time activities for the sole purpose of building strong minds and bodies for a better life, socially and spiritually, together with its positive program for effective citizenship deserves the support of the community.

One hundred members of the community, who enthusiastically subscribe to the program of the Kingston Y.M.C.A., have volunteered to make the solicitations for financial aid that this program might be continued. When they come to your home, it will be well to remember these youth services and take advantage of the opportunity to share in these services.

CAPTIVES OR CAPTORS

Mutinous convicts at the Southern Michigan prison have won a victory through violence. In order to assure the safety of nine hostages held by the prisoners the warden agreed to eleven demands for reform. These demands were also agreed to by the Governor of Michigan. When felons behind bars can dictate prison policy to enforcement officials and to the governor of a state some examination of the causes is in order.

It is understandable that the warden should accede to the prisoners' demands to protect the guards held as hostages. But why were the prisoners able to take hostages? Men isolated from the world and supposedly under constant guard were able to make captives of their captors. This indicates a lack of discipline and security at the institution where it happened.

Many American prisons are poorly built and overcrowded. Appropriations for their administration are insufficient. In many, modern correctional techniques are unknown. The outbreak at Michigan, and the similar riot in a New Jersey prison, are symptoms of something wrong with the penal system as a whole.

A thorough investigation of the factors that made the revolt possible may reveal the reforms that are needed. Prisons are built to teach criminals that violence and anti-social behavior pay poor dividends. Incidents such as the Michigan mutiny defeat that purpose.

MONUMENT FOR MANN

The United States could never have reached the position it has in the world without its system of public education. A great deal of the credit for that system must go to Horace Mann, educator and statesman, who spent his whole life fighting for the cause of public education.

Mann first won prominence as an attorney and a politician in Massachusetts. He left his political career to become secretary of the Massachusetts Board of Education. In 1839 he founded the first public normal school in the United States. As editor of the Common School Journal he spread his ideas through the land.

His birthday is celebrated on May 4. Mann won a place in the Hall of Fame in 1900. But his true monument is in the thousands of school buildings throughout the country where children from all social and economic groups study together the principles of democracy.

'These Days'

GUILT BY ASSOCIATION

Ham Fisher, the cartoonist, bribed me into writing about his character, "Joe Palooka," by introducing me to one of the most beautiful and wittiest women I have met in many years. Thus, I find myself guilty of association with a cartoonist, which is crossing the line for a writer, or vice versa, depending upon which side of the line one originally stood. Considering that the lady at issue is the wife of a publisher for whom "Joe Palooka" and I slave, to say nothing of Ham Fisher, it was indeed giving not the apple but Eve herself to a bewildered Adam. The association was not one of guilt but of charm.

Few instances of guilt by association are of this nature. Most such accusations arise from errors of commission. For instance, there is usually an objection to accusing a so-called naive person, a professor in a college, or a writer, or a philosopher, of a preference for Communists merely because he joins the Communists in their efforts to destroy America. The excuse is often given that these innocent persons did what they did because they did not then know what they know now.

This stereotype explanation is hard to accept, particularly when those who seek to paint themselves as simple children in a dark woods are, for business reasons, professors in our universities profoundly discussing intricate and erudite topics, writers of books, magazine and newspaper articles and motion pictures, clergymen, actors, and musicians, astronomers, philosophers and poets. They demand recognition as simpletons in their political activities.

J. Edward Hoover, who is expert on this subject, once said before a congressional committee:

". . . The only way you can determine whether an individual is or is not a Communist is through an investigation of the background of the man and his associations and contacts. The Communist-front organizations are the parrots or the 'Charlie McCarthys' for the Communist Party. Those organizations can be determined by just analyzing how they follow the party line."

The head of the FBI further said:

"The trend has been toward the perfection of a highly developed underground apparatus and decentralization of Communist Party operations. This decentralization has almost tripled the number of Communist Party clubs, the purpose being to do away with their congregating in such large groups. As a security measure, no Communist Party membership cards were issued in 1949. The maintenance of membership records has been discontinued. Members speak in a jargon of double talk, and use codes in correspondence. A courier system has been substituted to protect confidential party communications. Public meetings are maintained at an absolute minimum. Party records have been destroyed or removed to clandestine hiding places. Secret printing facilities and supplies have been secreted for future underground operations. Transfers of party members from one district to another are now controlled through the use of an elaborate identification system."

This ought to be known to an intelligent person who has watched the Hiss, Remington, Coplon, Rosenberg, and other Communist trials in our courts and who has paid attention to the hearings before the McCarran Committee and the House Committe on Un-American Activities. But intelligence and emotions do not always, or even often, go hand-in-hand and there are still those who believe that Alger Hiss is innocent in spite of the record of the trials. So where do we get to?

The phrase, "guilt by association," in its present use, is a Communist term. They have been very skillful in inventing such phrases or in twisting good words to have bad meaning. They have, for instance, with rare genius used the word, democracy, as a substitute for America. They do not say "this country," or "the United States" or "America"; they say "this democracy," "our American democracy," "democracy." It is a propagandistic device which has been very successful.

These people would say that because Ham Fisher is associated with me by the device of introducing me to a lovely lady, that does not make me a cartoonist; therefore, if a writer follows the Stalinist line on all occasions, that does not make him a Communist. This type of reasoning by analogy is a logical crime deserving manslaughter in the first degree, at least.

The facts are as J. Edgar Hoover states them. The logic is with him, not in far-fetched analogies.

Prior Monopoly Moves

Previous to the Lorain Journal case, the Justice Department actually had considered three monopoly suits. One was against the Rochester, N. Y., Times Union and Democratic Chronicle, owned by Frank Gannett, who also owns a radio station in Rochester. Another was against the Omaha World-Herald which also operates a radio station; and the third was against the Kansas City Times and Star and its radio station.

After careful consideration—prior to the Lorain Journal decision—it was decided not to move against the Gannett newspapers in Rochester because that city is located in the northwest part of New York state and not close enough to the Pennsylvania border to have any appreciable interstate circulation. Such circulation was considered important to show that the paper was engaged in interstate commerce.

Instead of Rochester, it was tentatively decided to proceed against the Kansas City Star and Times which, located on the Missouri river, have a heavy circulation in both Kansas and Missouri; also against the Omaha World-Herald, which circulates substantially in both Iowa and Nebraska.

Confidential fact is that a grand jury was virtually called to consider the case against the Kansas City Star. But when the matter came to the attention of the White House, President Truman put his foot down, on the ground that any prosecution of a newspaper critical of him would boomerang.

All these moves were prior to the Supreme Court decision in the Lorain Journal case, which ruled that a paper using a press service and receiving news across state lines was in interstate commerce. After this, it was no longer necessary for the Justice Department to confine its monopoly prosecutions to newspapers located on state borders, such as the Kansas City Star. Thus, the entire newsmonopoly picture was re-examined with a view to other and wider suits.

However, in view of the President's press-conference statement about power over newspapers and the subsequent resolution of censure passed by the publishers, future anti-monopoly moves are now considered highly unlikely.

Note—Actually, Justice Department officials believe that moves to break up news monopoly would lessen any danger of government control over the press. They argue that experience in other countries shows that when news channels become too centralized, it's easier for a government to take them over. Some publishers concur in this.

Judge Pine's Decision Places Steel Dispute in Category Where It Belongs

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 30 — Far away as it may seem at the moment, the net effect of the decision by Judge Pine in his historic pronouncement—that a president has no inherent powers except those derived from laws on the statute books—will be to place the steel controversy back where it belongs, namely, in the hands of the unions and the companies themselves to settle by collective bargaining.

There was no excuse for the seizure, no excuse for the first strike call and no excuse for giving to the public, as President Truman did, a distorted version of what had happened to bring about the seizure. There is evidence that the dispute could have been settled by negotiation and a workable compromise.

For, despite all the protestations to the contrary by Price Stabilizer Arnall, for instance, that the companies were not entitled to more than the increase in price provided for by the so-called Capehart formula, the Office of Price Stabilization has, since the seizure, revised the method of measuring the Capehart price change and has authorized a straight $3 a ton. Such an assurance before seizure would have been a factor helping to prevent a break in the negotiations.

On top of this—although not hitherto known to the public—the same Office of Price Stabilization now has revealed that it did recently approve a $1.50 additional price increase over and above the $3, thus making a total of $4.50 a ton. Mr. Arnall says he will not offer it again, but it is a damaging admission nevertheless that the administration has not told the public what it has been doing all the time it has been claiming that $3 was its limit on the price side.

Now the steel companies have said that around $5.50 would be a fair basis for settlement. So the two sides have been coming closer and closer together. Judge Pine, therefore, performed a great service in insisting that the Constitution be respected. For, in ordering the steel plants turned back to their owners, in effect he said that this problem could be dealt with by the parties or by a law of Congress. Both Houses are in session and could enact legislation authorizing seizure and banning a strike if so desired.

Official Washington is rapidly coming to realize that seizure settles nothing and that in this instance the CIO union relied on seizure as a means of getting their demands fulfilled, for it was announced that the administration was ready to impose the terms which had been recommended by the Wage Stabilization Board. As long as the CIO had the government to rely on to back up its demands and as long as the government was unwilling to permit a price increase to the steel companies to offset added wage costs, there was an impasse.

Judge Pine's decision clears the air and puts the problem back where it belongs—in the hands of the parties at interest.

But what of the national emergency and the loss in steel production? What kind of emergency? It's also an emergency when the constitution is violated, public confidence in our institutions is undermined, and private property is rendered insecure. It's an emergency, to be sure, when the government wants steel produced for national defense but lately the government itself has "stretched out" the defense program, and especially aircraft production, for a period of from three to five years. Is the emergency to be considered of five-year duration? If so, the laws of the land should provide standards for executive action or for the settlement of labor-management disputes during such a quasi-permanent condition of affairs.

Judge Pine's comments during the arguments indicated how he would rule. He is a fearless judge devoted to constitutional law. So anyone familiar with constitutional principles was not surprised at his decision.

The situation now turns on the legal side to the Supreme Court of the United States. The Department of Justice had planned, even before Judge Pine's opinion was known, to docket the case in the Circuit Court of Appeals, ask for a stay of execution so as to be able to maintain the status quo—which means a continuance of seizure—and then go direct to the Supreme Court. Mr. Murray's strike call, if maintained, would run counter to an order of the court to hold things at their previous position until the Supreme Court can hand down its opinion.

But with both sides knowing now that seizure is not legal or likely to be upheld, the ball passes to the disputants to settle their issues or else Congress will enact a law providing for compulsory arbitration. And that's something neither side would want to see happen.

Adhering to the constitution is the safest course even if it means a new strike. For, as Senator Maybank of South Carolina, Democrat, chairman of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, and other members of Congress have wisely said—there are many things worse than a steel strike, and one of them is the destruction of the Constitution of the United States. Judge Pine himself made the same point.

President Truman is placed in a very embarrassing position by Judge Pine's decision, for, though he tried by a published letter Sunday night to modify what had been said in court, the basic principles which Mr. Truman had sought to establish — inherent power to seize private property—were not upheld. Does this mean that the House of Representatives now has a better case for impeachment? The court record is a piece of damaging evidence of the purpose of the President and the drive for impeachment probably will get added momentum now.

Notes on Garden Chores for Spring

By HENRY PREE
Written for NEA Service

Lawns infested with dandelions, plantain, ground ivy and creeping veronica can be freed of these weeds if an application of 2,4-D spray is applied on a warm day.

The chemical is powerful and care must be taken not to get any on shrubs or flowers. Do not spray on a windy day. It is best applied through a plastic sprinkler on a gallon jug.

Do not use a sprinkling can or your garden sprayer because it is almost impossible to clean them out after filling them with 2, 4-D. Keep this gallon jug and its applicator only for your 2, 4-D, which is sold under trade names.

Most asparagus and rhubarb beds will appreciate some attention at this time. Both kinds of plants are heavy users of nitrogen and will respond well to a feeding of a 10-6-4 fertilizer or a heavy mulch of manure.

The old gardener advises against the use of salt on the asparagus bed to kill the weeds. Salt in a sufficient quantity to kill weeds would seriously damage the asparagus roots. So get busy and either hoe out the weeds or pull them by hand. Home gardeners who want to increase their asparagus can plant new roots right now.

It is best to purchase one-year-old crowns instead of dividing old plants. Rhubarb plants can be divided at this time or new roots purchased.

Many perennial herbaceous plants, such as the Japanese anemones, hardy chrysanthemums, phlox and autumn blooming asters should be moved now. It these are lifted, divided and replanted soon they will recover and bloom this year.

If you intend to move some of your hybrid tea roses do not put off this chore too long. Roses move best before new growth appears. Cut out all dead canes before pruning and then be stingy, as better and more roses will result from plants with several long canes.

Feed all your roses with a plant food strong in phosphorous and potash. Newly planted roses should be hilled up for two or three weeks with soil or peat moss to prevent drying out of the wood, to retard top growth and to encourage root growth.

Among the glories of the garden are the plant hybrid delphiniums. The Galahad series of Pacific hybrids, with pure glistening white blooms attaining a height of five to six feet, are especially noteworthy. When three or four of these plants are set in a group, few, if any, perennials can approach them for sheer beauty and grace.

It has been estimated that only one-third of all American children are born in hospitals.

DON'T MAKE SAMBA SO CONFUSING

"Please straighten me out about red threes in Samba," writes a Florida correspondent. "I drew three red threes one after the other at my first turn in a Samba game recently. Everybody was confused as to how many cards I should draw to replace them. Can you clear this up?"

This is easy if you remember that you are entitled to two usable cards when it is your turn to draw in Samba. A red three is not a usable card, so when you draw one of them you must draw again. You must keep going until you have obtained two usable cards. In this case you would draw a total of five cards; the three red threes and two normal cards.

"I drew one card, a king," writes another fan, "and then picked up a red three as my second card in a Samba draw. I replaced the red three at once, getting a queen. Do I get another draw to make two cards drawn from the stock pile?"

No. You have already received two normal cards—the king and the queen. That is all you are entitled to.

"Our opponents in a game of Samba had two red threes but only one canasta," writes a St. Louis correspondent. "They said they got full credit of 300 points for the canasta, but no points at all for the red threes. We said they got 300 points for the canasta, and minus 200 for the red threes, giving them a bonus of only 100 points altogether. Who is right?"

My correspondent is correct. The opponents get 300 for the canasta and lose 200 for the red threes, giving them a net score of only 100 points. When you have two canastas, your red threes are assets, but until that time they are liabilities. Red threes are never just neutral; they always count either for you or against you.

"When are you allowed to discard a three in Canasta or Samba?" asks a Pittsburgh fan.

Never—but never. There are no exceptions to this rule, and there never have been. A red three can get into the discard pile if the dealer turns one up at the very beginning of a hand—but that's the only way a red three can land in that pile.

IBM Borrowing Told By Watson at Session

New York, April 30 (AP)—Thomas J. Watson, chairman of International Business Machines Corp., told stockholders at the company's annual meeting yesterday that 40 million dollars was borrowed in February from the Prudential Insurance Co. under an agreement which will eventually borrow 115 millions in 100-year 3¾ per cent obligation.

Proceeds of the loan are to be used for construction of a plant addition at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., additional equipment to fill defense contracts at Poughkeepsie and Endicott, N. Y., and to provide new working capital.

Incoming orders continue at a high level and the company has a substantial amount of munitions work, the chairman said.

The U. S. figure announced last week was 107,666, including 16,898 dead.

Banned War Movie Returns

Frankfurt, Germany (AP)—Twenty years and 200 white mice later, "All Quiet on the Western Front" has returned to Germany. It was in the spring of 1932 that Erich Maria Remarque's great anti-war sermon came out of Hollywood to Germany. Since Hitler had not yet attained complete power, devious means had to be used to keep young Germans from seeing war unglamorized. Hitler's Brown Shirts accomplished their purpose by releasing 200 white mice among the audience. Women screamed and the theatre emptied quickly in the ensuing riot, a German spectator recalled. The picture was a flop. Recently a Frankfurt movie house brought the picture back with much fanfare.

Your vacation starts when you take the wheel

YES, we know vacation time's still a few weeks away.

But before you start laying out your sport clothes, giving last year's bathing suit a critical gander, or scanning road maps, we'd like to ask one important question:

How are you going to get there?

Will those miles you decide to travel slip beneath you so easily that you hardly know the road is there?

Will you pull up at a hotel, motel or camp, wishing you'd set your sights on one another two hours away?

Will your shoulders be free from aches—and you-know-what free from numbness?

The best way to get the right answer to these questions is to start out in a Buick.

There's legroom, shoulderroom, elbowroom for everyone to ride at ease—and big, soft, deep cushions to keep you comfortable.

There's a Million Dollar Ride to soothe the miles.

There's an oversized trunk to keep the car uncluttered.

There's Dynaflow Drive* to let the driver ride relaxed for hour after hour and protect back-seat riders from that wooziness that goes with lurch-and-go driving.

And along with all this, there's a mile-eating Fireball 8 Engine—a high-compression valve-in-head with turbo-top pistons—that stretches a tankful of gas surprisingly far.

Time's afleeting. If you want to make this year's vacation trip a joy from the day you leave home, the wise thing to do is order that Buick now. How about a demonstration?

Discharge Changes Must Be Official

State Veteran Counselor Donald Moore and Director Howard Shurter of the Ulster County Veterans' Service Agency today cautioned recently discharged veterans not to make corrections when they find that there have been errors made on their discharge.

Alterations made by other than the proper authorities may void a veteran's discharge for use in obtaining subsequent federal benefits, they pointed out.

Veterans who find errors on their discharges are urged to contact the Ulster County Veterans' Service Agency, 32 Main street, or the branch offices in Saugerties, Ellenville, Highland or Kerhonkson for assistance in getting their service record corrected.

Bus Forced Into Pole

The Kingston City Transportation Corp., reported to the police that one of its buses struck a pole on Wall street near the First Dutch Church yesterday morning because it was forced to the curb by a heavy trailer tank truck. The bus was operated by Joseph Brannigan, the report said, and the truck is known to travel over Wall street at about 7 a. m., daily. No injuries were reported.

Boy Finds Stolen Car

Burbank, Calif. (AP)—Nine-year-old Disler Ganner and her mother, Mrs. Ina Ganner, left a Burbank movie recently to find their car had been stolen. Mrs. Ganner called police, but her young son took more direct action. The boy spent the day pedaling his bicycle up and down the residential sections of the town. Late in the afternoon he located the stolen car. It had been abandoned by the thief.

Pine Orders . . .

reference to the President, Judge Pine snapped:

"How could he be damaged?"

Baldridge said that a strike has already occurred in the steel industry and that production for defense will be cut off as long as it continues.

The judge told Baldridge he already had ruled that the President is not a party to the proceeding.

Baldridge argued that the damages "run to (involve) the protection of the country" in time of emergency, and repeated that they were "incalculable."

For this reason Baldridge contended, the judge "should look with more favor" on his motion to hold up the effectiveness of his orders for the return of the steel mills to their owners.

Russians Ground

and nicking two French crewmen.

The cutback in the months of daily aerial maneuvers was declared on a day that was sunny and clear—perfect for training flights.

The Allies and the Russians swapped contradictory charges about the incident last night.

Stiff Note Sent

A stiff note from the three Allied high commissioners declared the French plane was flying in the proper corridor established by four-power agreement and the attack on it was "unwarranted" and "outrageous."

It demanded punishment of the Soviet fighter pilots and compensation for damages and injuries.

A Russian counter protest charged the French plane was far off the corridor, headed toward Leipzig, and ignored the fighters' signals to land. It said the Soviet planes then fired "warning shots" across its bow.

The two passengers shot during the attack were recovering in a Berlin hospital. Regular flying schedules between Berlin and West Germany, disrupted yesterday and last night, were resumed in full today.

Further Cuts Seen

funds voted by the House a total of some 44 millions.

Veteran Sen. Hayden (D-Ariz.) took a dim view of the budget-cutting. He told his colleagues they were engaging in an economy spree for the record but would vote later on to restore the funds in deficiency bills.

The House already has acted on all but three money bills for fiscal 1953 and has cut them by about 6½ billion dollars. A big reduction is certain in one of the other measures — President Truman's $7,900,000,000 foreign aid request.

These cuts fall far short of meeting the 14-billion-dollar deficit forecast for the year in President Truman's budget.

But Ferguson told a reporter that the votes on the treasury-postoffice and labor-federal security bills show that the Senate is as anxious to cut spending as the House in this national election year.

87,000 Oil Workers

lowed to remain on hand until the job is completed. This is expected to take 72 hours in some places.

Some picketing was reported today, but it generally was held off until idling had become complete.

Union officials would not disclose exactly how many plants had been closed or their locations.

At San Francisco, a state conciliator said at the close of meetings yesterday:

"They are very close together. If we are successful in reaching a settlement, it may set a pattern for the nation."

The strike originally was set for

Strike Call Sent

lied industry was reported by U. S. Steel which said all its coal miners had been furloughed.

The work stoppage, third in steel since the end of World War 2, began in Gary, Ind., and South Chicago, Ind., within an hour after a federal judge nullified government seizure of the steel industry.

Pickets Take Posts

Like a chain of sputtering firecrakers stretched across the land, pickets popped up at plant gates everywhere. Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Buffalo and Baltimore were among the first to report workers walking out. Some chanted "no contract—no work."

The USW's contract with practically all major steel producers expired Jan. 1. Union-industry negotiations produced no new pact. Federal mediators failed to break the deadlock on the union's demand for an 18½ cent hourly wage boost, union shop and other objectives.

The WSB recommended a 17½ cent hourly payhike and a union shop, plus other benefits. USW accepted. Industry balked. President Truman averted a strike April 9 by seizing the steel industry. The companies successfully fought the action by getting a federal court injunction. An hour later they were strike-bound.

Average Earnings

The average earnings of USW members has been running between $1.94 and $1.97 an hour in recent months. The figure varies because of fluctuations in overtime and other premium pay. The earnings figure comes from the American Iron and Steel Institute. Some union sources say average earnings are not that high.

At Gary, Ind., a union spokesman indicated no effort was being made to safeguard the expensive iron and steel making furnaces which must be cooled slowly over a period of 24 to 48 hours to prevent damage.

Orville Kincaid, head of USW Sub-District One, said at Gary that the union had made no arrangements with steel companies for banking furnaces. He added:

"We'll let them worry about that."

Murray instructed his men to arrange for stand-by operation of steel plants and most of the workers were glad to obey. They knew that if furnaces were damaged, they would not have jobs to come back to for a long time after the strike ends.

Steel production sagged sharply but no one could say how much with plants still in the process of shutting down. The industry has been producing at peak capacity, making about two million tons of ingots—raw steel—a week. Much of it was being used for defense and essential civilian purposes.

The steel strike of 1952—originally called for Jan. 1 but postponed four times—is in support of demands for the union's sixth post-war wage increase.

Only a handful of steel companies are unaffected by the strike. They employ about 24,000 men. They are firms which have already signed with the union or which do not bargain with the United Steelworkers.

The biggest steel producer in the lot is Kaiser Steel of California which signed a contract along the lines of the WSB recommendations.

Libel Suit Dismissed

Washington, April 30 (AP)—U. S. District Judge James W. Morris yesterday dismissed a $25,000 libel suit brought by Mrs. Mary G. Cariepy of Detroit against Drew Pearson.

March 3, but postponed three times by government request.

Production of petroleum products continues, with government needs being met first. Union officials said they do not believe the defense effort will be impaired.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

School District To Pick Officers Tuesday, May 6

Woodstock, April 30—The annual meeting of Woodstock School District No. 2, will be held Tuesday, May 6, in the school auditorium at 7:30 p. m., for the purpose of electing a trustee for three years to replace Lorenz B. Stowell. Other officers to be elected will be a treasurer, a collector and a district clerk all to serve for one year. The meeting will also be for the purpose of transacting such business as may legally be presented, which will include the passing of a budget for 1952.

Walter Van Wagenen, principal of the school, has announced that the Woodstock School band has been asked to play in the Memorial Day parade, by the American Legion, and the band has accepted. There is also, Van Wagenen said, a strong possibility that the band will play in the afternoon in the Kingston parade.

The Woodstock School was visited Tuesday by E. Blanchard Brown, associate in Vocational Arts and Crafts Education, representative of the State Educational Department. Brown came to the school to discuss the new classes to be started in the near future, and to outline programs which might be given in this village at a later date. He discussed the projects extensively with Van Wagenen, who is director of the adult educational program here.

Brown is the author of an article titled Crafts Education for Income, which was published in the April Bulletin to the Schools, by the University of the State of New York. Describing the state crafts program, Brown cites Woodstock especially. "For example," he wrote, " the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen is supplying workshop space for classes in vocational hand-weaving, applied design and experimentation for the crafts and decorative techniques for the crafts."

At the conclusion of the conference Tuesday, Brown informed Van Wagenen that the Woodstock craft educational project is now rated as one of the highest in New York state.

Forman Art Show To Open May 6

CECILE FORMAN
(Blackstone Photo)

Woodstock, April 30—Cecile Forman, noted Woodstock artist who not only contributed a chapter on her work, but assisted with the compilation of the recently published book, Art and the Artist, will have a one-man show of her paintings at the Albany Institute of History and Art, opening with a reception, May 6.

Mrs. Forman has exhibited in most of the large national shows, and four years ago had a one-man show at the Mortimer Levitt Gallery in New York. Two years ago she had an exhibition at Miriam Landy's, also in New York. Her pictures are also included in many well-known private collections.

A native New Yorker, Cecile Forman removed to Mt. Vernon at an early age. She attended schools in Mt. Vernon and completed her education at New York University.

After leaving school she was married and the next few years were devoted to her two small sons. Meanwhile, however, she continued to study painting at the Art Students League and spending summers working by herself. During these years, she did commercial illustrations for the New York newspapers, and sketched for many fashion designers.

Cecile Forman and her husband, well-known Kingston lawyer, Joseph H. Forman, completed their uniquely modern home here on the former Cannon ranch property last year.

All of the paintings which Cecile Forman will include in the Albany exhibition have been painted within the past year. She devotes considerable time to local art activities, and has served on the board of the Woodstock Art Association, the Art Conference Committee, and Artists' Equity.

Mrs. Forman's exhibition will be on view through May 19.

Bank Will Open Saturday, May 17

Woodstock, April 30—Kenneth L. Wilson returned from Goshen late Tuesday afternoon and announced here that at a stockholders' meeting of the National Bank of Orange County, it had been voted unanimously to convert from a national to a state bank and to establish a branch bank in Woodstock. The plan of conversion, as previously announced by Wilson, will require that the Goshen banking house reorganize as a state bank under the name of the Bank of Orange County, the name it bore from 1812 to 1865. The new branch will be called the Woodstock Branch of The Bank of Orange County.

According to Wilson, "the impossible happened" at the stockholders' meeting Tuesday afternoon, and of the 3,964 shares voted there were no dissenting votes cast.

This unanimous vote, Wilson asserted, has ironed out the final wrinkle in the plan to open a bank in this village. Arrangements are now going ahead according to schedule, and the bank will have its official opening Saturday, May 17.

Seahorse Opens May 3

Woodstock, April 30—The SS Seahorse, which has been redecorated, will re-open May 3. The galley will be as usual under the direction of Mrs. Richard Pittman, who has just returned from a cruise to the Caribbean, and has brought with her several intriguing recipes, which originated in both the East and West Dutch Indies.

Weaving Exhibit

Woodstock, April 30—In connection with the demonstration in weaving to be given by Besse Stowall at the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen, Thursday evening, May 1, the work of her vocational weaving class will be exhibited. The exhibition, which is free to the public, will be open from May 1 through 6, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., and from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m.

Discharge Changes Must Be Official

State Veteran Counselor Donald Moore and Director Howard Shurter of the Ulster County Veterans' Service Agency today cautioned recently discharged veterans not to make corrections when they find that there have been errors made on their discharge.

Alterations made by other than the proper authorities may void a veteran's discharge for use in obtaining subsequent federal benefits, they pointed out.

Veterans who find errors on their discharges are urged to contact the Ulster County Veterans' Service Agency, 32 Main street, or the branch offices in Saugerties, Ellenville, Highland or Kerhonkson for assistance in getting their service record corrected.

The Kingston City Transportation Corp., reported to the police that one of its buses struck a pole on Wall street near the First Dutch Church yesterday morning because it was forced to the curb by a heavy trailer tank truck. The bus was operated by Joseph Brannigan, the report said, and the truck is known to travel over Wall street at about 7 a. m., daily. No injuries were reported.

Mrs. Ganner called police, but her young son took more direct action. The boy spent the day pedaling his bicycle up and down the residential sections of the town. Late in the afternoon he located the stolen car. It had been abandoned by the thief.

Pine Orders . . .

reference to the President, Judge Pine snapped:

"How could he be damaged?"

Baldridge said that a strike has already occurred in the steel industry and that production for defense will be cut off as long as it continues.

The judge told Baldridge he already had ruled that the President is not a party to the proceeding.

Baldridge argued that the damages "run to (involve) the protection of the country" in time of emergency, and repeated that they were "incalculable."

For this reason Baldridge contended, the judge "should look with more favor" on his motion to hold up the effectiveness of his orders for the return of the steel mills to their owners.

Russians Ground

and nicking two French crewmen.

The cutback in the months of daily aerial maneuvers was declared on a day that was sunny and clear—perfect for training flights.

The Allies and the Russians swapped contradictory charges about the incident last night.

Stiff Note Sent

A stiff note from the three Allied high commissioners declared the French plane was flying in the proper corridor established by four-power agreement and the attack on it was "unwarranted" and "outrageous."

It demanded punishment of the Soviet fighter pilots and compensation for damages and injuries.

A Russian counter protest charged the French plane was far off the corridor, headed toward Leipzig, and ignored the fighters' signals to land. It said the Soviet planes then fired "warning shots" across its bow.

The two passengers shot during the attack were recovering in a Berlin hospital. Regular flying schedules between Berlin and West Germany, disrupted yesterday and last night, were resumed in full today.

Further Cuts Seen

funds voted by the House a total of some 44 millions.

Veteran Sen. Hayden (D-Ariz.) took a dim view of the budget-cutting. He told his colleagues they were engaging in an economy spree for the record but would vote later on to restore the funds in deficiency bills.

The House already has acted on all but three money bills for fiscal 1953 and has cut them by about 6½ billion dollars. A big reduction is certain in one of the other measures — President Truman's $7,900,000,000 foreign aid request.

These cuts fall far short of meeting the 14-billion-dollar deficit forecast for the year in President Truman's budget.

But Ferguson told a reporter that the votes on the treasury-postoffice and labor-federal security bills show that the Senate is as anxious to cut spending as the House in this national election year.

87,000 Oil Workers

lowed to remain on hand until the job is completed. This is expected to take 72 hours in some places.

Some picketing was reported today, but it generally was held off until idling had become complete.

Union officials would not disclose exactly how many plants had been closed or their locations.

At San Francisco, a state conciliator said at the close of meetings yesterday:

"They are very close together. If we are successful in reaching a settlement, it may set a pattern for the nation."

The strike originally was set for March 3, but postponed three times by government request.

Production of petroleum products continues, with government needs being met first. Union officials said they do not believe the defense effort will be impaired.

Strike Call Sent

lied industry was reported by U. S. Steel which said all its coal miners had been furloughed.

The work stoppage, third in steel since the end of World War 2, began in Gary, Ind., and South Chicago, Ind., within an hour after a federal judge nullified government seizure of the steel industry.

Pickets Take Posts

Like a chain of sputtering firecrakers stretched across the land, pickets popped up at plant gates everywhere. Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Buffalo and Baltimore were among the first to report workers walking out. Some chanted "no contract—no work."

The USW's contract with practically all major steel producers expired Jan. 1. Union-industry negotiations produced no new pact. Federal mediators failed to break the deadlock on the union's demand for an 18½ cent hourly wage boost, union shop and other objectives.

The WSB recommended a 17½ cent hourly payhike and a union shop, plus other benefits. USW accepted. Industry balked. President Truman averted a strike April 9 by seizing the steel industry. The companies successfully fought the action by getting a federal court injunction. An hour later they were strike-bound.

Average Earnings

The average earnings of USW members has been running between $1.94 and $1.97 an hour in recent months. The figure varies because of fluctuations in overtime and other premium pay. The earnings figure comes from the American Iron and Steel Institute. Some union sources say average earnings are not that high.

At Gary, Ind., a union spokesman indicated no effort was being made to safeguard the expensive iron and steel making furnaces which must be cooled slowly over a period of 24 to 48 hours to prevent damage.

Orville Kincaid, head of USW Sub-District One, said at Gary that the union had made no arrangements with steel companies for banking furnaces. He added:

"We'll let them worry about that."

Murray instructed his men to arrange for stand-by operation of steel plants and most of the workers were glad to obey. They knew that if furnaces were damaged, they would not have jobs to come back to for a long time after the strike ends.

Steel production sagged sharply but no one could say how much with plants still in the process of shutting down. The industry has been producing at peak capacity, making about two million tons of ingots—raw steel—a week. Much of it was being used for defense and essential civilian purposes.

The steel strike of 1952—originally called for Jan. 1 but postponed four times—is in support of demands for the union's sixth post-war wage increase.

Only a handful of steel companies are unaffected by the strike. They employ about 24,000 men. They are firms which have already signed with the union or which do not bargain with the United Steelworkers.

The biggest steel producer in the lot is Kaiser Steel of California which signed a contract along the lines of the WSB recommendations.

School District To Pick Officers Tuesday, May 6

Woodstock, April 30—The annual meeting of Woodstock School District No. 2, will be held Tuesday, May 6, in the school auditorium at 7:30 p. m., for the purpose of electing a trustee for three years to replace Lorenz B. Stowell. Other officers to be elected will be a treasurer, a collector and a district clerk all to serve for one year. The meeting will also be for the purpose of transacting such business as may legally be presented, which will include the passing of a budget for 1952.

Walter Van Wagenen, principal of the school, has announced that the Woodstock School band has been asked to play in the Memorial Day parade, by the American Legion, and the band has accepted. There is also, Van Wagenen said, a strong possibility that the band will play in the afternoon in the Kingston parade.

The Woodstock School was visited Tuesday by E. Blanchard Brown, associate in Vocational Arts and Crafts Education, representative of the State Educational Department. Brown came to the school to discuss the new classes to be started in the near future, and to outline programs which might be given in this village at a later date. He discussed the projects extensively with Van Wagenen, who is director of the adult educational program here.

Brown is the author of an article titled Crafts Education for Income, which was published in the April Bulletin to the Schools, by the University of the State of New York. Describing the state crafts program, Brown cites Woodstock especially. "For example," he wrote, " the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen is supplying workshop space for classes in vocational hand-weaving, applied design and experimentation for the crafts and decorative techniques for the crafts."

At the conclusion of the conference Tuesday, Brown informed Van Wagenen that the Woodstock craft educational project is now rated as one of the highest in New York state.

Forman Art Show To Open May 6

Woodstock, April 30—Cecile Forman, noted Woodstock artist who not only contributed a chapter on her work, but assisted with the compilation of the recently published book, Art and the Artist, will have a one-man show of her paintings at the Albany Institute of History and Art, opening with a reception, May 6.

Mrs. Forman has exhibited in most of the large national shows, and four years ago had a one-man show at the Mortimer Levitt Gallery in New York. Two years ago she had an exhibition at Miriam Landy's, also in New York. Her pictures are also included in many well-known private collections.

A native New Yorker, Cecile Forman removed to Mt. Vernon at an early age. She attended schools in Mt. Vernon and completed her education at New York University.

After leaving school she was married and the next few years were devoted to her two small sons. Meanwhile, however, she continued to study painting at the Art Students League and spending summers working by herself. During these years, she did commercial illustrations for the New York newspapers, and sketched for many fashion designers.

Cecile Forman and her husband, well-known Kingston lawyer, Joseph H. Forman, completed their uniquely modern home here on the former Cannon ranch property last year.

All of the paintings which Cecile Forman will include in the Albany exhibition have been painted within the past year. She devotes considerable time to local art activities, and has served on the board of the Woodstock Art Association, the Art Conference Committee, and Artists' Equity.

Mrs. Forman's exhibition will be on view through May 19.

Bank Will Open Saturday, May 17

Woodstock, April 30—Kenneth L. Wilson returned from Goshen late Tuesday afternoon and announced here that at a stockholders' meeting of the National Bank of Orange County, it had been voted unanimously to convert from a national to a state bank and to establish a branch bank in Woodstock. The plan of conversion, as previously announced by Wilson, will require that the Goshen banking house reorganize as a state bank under the name of the Bank of Orange County, the name it bore from 1812 to 1865. The new branch will be called the Woodstock Branch of The Bank of Orange County.

According to Wilson, "the impossible happened" at the stockholders' meeting Tuesday afternoon, and of the 3,964 shares voted there were no dissenting votes cast.

This unanimous vote, Wilson asserted, has ironed out the final wrinkle in the plan to open a bank in this village. Arrangements are now going ahead according to schedule, and the bank will have its official opening Saturday, May 17.

Seahorse Opens May 3

Woodstock, April 30—The SS Seahorse, which has been redecorated, will re-open May 3. The galley will be as usual under the direction of Mrs. Richard Pittman, who has just returned from a cruise to the Caribbean, and has brought with her several intriguing recipes, which originated in both the East and West Dutch Indies.

Weaving Exhibit

Woodstock, April 30—In connection with the demonstration in weaving to be given by Besse Stowall at the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen, Thursday evening, May 1, the work of her vocational weaving class will be exhibited. The exhibition, which is free to the public, will be open from May 1 through 6, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., and from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m.

Three Men, Two Banks Indicted for Extortion

New York, April 30 (AP)—Three more Chinese-Americans and two Hong Kong banks have been indicted in connection with the racket operated by Red China to extort money from overseas Chinese by threatening their relatives at home.

The new indictments returned yesterday by a special federal grand jury accused two officials and an employe of a Bronx laundry of sending money illegally to Communist China.

The two Hong Kong banks, the Nanyang Commercial Bank, Ltd., and Overseas Chinese Service Bank of China, were charged with receiving the illegal remittances.

The same jury returned indictments Monday against a New York Chinese language newspaper, its president and a former editor. They were accused of promoting and publishing advertising which showed how money could be sent to China.

The three men named in yesterday's indictments along with the Hong Kong banks were Chin You Gon, 40, assistant manager of the Wah Kim Wetwash Co.; Tom Sung, 45, manager, and Chin Hong King, 48, an employe.

The government has claimed that the Red Chinese racket involves the imprisonment, torture and even death of Chinese citizens if their American relatives fail to send the dollars demanded.

Bangor Gun Ruled Out As Slaying Weapon

Boston, April 30 (AP)—A gun seized from two men held in Bangor, Me., has been eliminated as the possible weapon used in the slaying of a Massachusetts state trooper.

A spokesman for the state police said yesterday that bullets from the 9 millimeter Belgian automatic did not match those that killed trooper Alje Savela, 34, near Barre, Mass., last August.

The pistol was one of four found by police in a car stopped near Bucksport, Me., last week. The car's occupants, Edward Femsnell, 25, of Greenwich, Conn., and Kenneth M. Seger, 33, of New Rochelle, N. Y., were held on charges of carrying concealed weapons and stealing a pistol from a Bangor gunsmith.

Man, Two Children Are Fire Victims

Albany, N. Y., April 30 (AP)—Two small children and an elderly man burned to death early today in a fire that swept a two-and-a-half story frame dwelling in downtown Albany.

Seven other persons were injured, one critically.

All were Negroes.

Two other children were dropped to safety by their parents from blazing rooms on the second floor, police said. Three persons were injured when they leaped from windows.

Cause of the fire was not determined.

Police identified two of the dead as Elaine Carrington, 2, and her brother, Tyrone, five months.

The third victim was identified as Watkins Carrington, about 65. Police said he lived in an attic room, but they were unable to determine his relationship to the two children.

Miss Vanora Thomas, 24, a roomer, was in critical condition at Albany Hospital. Police said she apparently jumped from an attic window.

Grace Carrington, 21, mother of Elaine and Tyrone, was unhurt. The family lived on the first floor.

Jump to Safety

William Kittle, 36, and his wife, Elizabeth, also 36, dropped their two sons from their second-floor apartment and then jumped to the ground, police said.

A passerby caught the younger of the two, Herbert 3, in his arms. The elder boy, William, Jr., was injured when he landed on the ground, police said.

Robert Reid, 41, a next-door neighbor, was injured when he entered the house in a rescue attempt.

Fred Harris, 23, a passerby was treated for smoke poisoning after he had been overcome in an attempt to rescue the victims,.

Boston, April 30 (AP)—A gun seized from two men held in Bangor, Me., has been eliminated as the possible weapon used in the slaying of a Massachusetts state trooper.

A spokesman for the state police said yesterday that bullets from the 9 millimeter Belgian automatic did not match those that killed trooper Alje Savela, 34, near Barre, Mass., last August.

The pistol was one of four found by police in a car stopped near Bucksport, Me., last week. The car's occupants, Edward Femsnell, 25, of Greenwich, Conn., and Kenneth M. Seger, 33, of New Rochelle, N. Y., were held on charges of carrying concealed weapons and stealing a pistol from a Bangor gunsmith.

Man, Two Children Are Fire Victims

Albany, N. Y., April 30 (AP)—Two small children and an elderly man burned to death early today in a fire that swept a two-and-a-half story frame dwelling in downtown Albany.

Seven other persons were injured, one critically.

All were Negroes.

Two other children were dropped to safety by their parents from blazing rooms on the second floor, police said. Three persons were injured when they leaped from windows.

Cause of the fire was not determined.

Police identified two of the dead as Elaine Carrington, 2, and her brother, Tyrone, five months.

The third victim was identified as Watkins Carrington, about 65. Police said he lived in an attic room, but they were unable to determine his relationship to the two children.

Miss Vanora Thomas, 24, a roomer, was in critical condition at Albany Hospital. Police said she apparently jumped from an attic window.

Grace Carrington, 21, mother of Elaine and Tyrone, was unhurt. The family lived on the first floor.

Jump to Safety

William Kittle, 36, and his wife, Elizabeth, also 36, dropped their two sons from their second-floor apartment and then jumped to the ground, police said.

A passerby caught the younger of the two, Herbert 3, in his arms. The elder boy, William, Jr., was injured when he landed on the ground, police said.

Robert Reid, 41, a next-door neighbor, was injured when he entered the house in a rescue attempt.

Fred Harris, 23, a passerby was treated for smoke poisoning after he had been overcome in an attempt to rescue the victims.

Refused Governorship

Abraham Lincoln was offered the first governorship of the Oregon territory, but declined, and the place was taken by Gen. Joseph Lane.

Mead House Ready For 87th Season Opening May 30th

Woodstock, April 30—When the Mead Mountain House opens May 30, it will begin its 87th consecutive season as a resort. As evidence that it was a summer haven for celebrities long before this village began to gain fame as an art colony, the impressive leather-bound register, dating from 1865, bears the signature of President Ulyssess S. Grant, and may still be viewed there by visitors.

No doubt the impression exists that when the first artist group came to Woodstock, shortly after the turn of the century, primarily in search of landscape material, that it was a land of open fields, simple farmhouses, red barns and colorful mountains—which indeed it was. In the year 1873, however, when Grant's signature appears for the first time, such painters as Renoir and Monet might have found in the post-Civil War atmosphere of Mead's, likely subjects for their genre. Driving up to the Mountain House in a carriage drawn by a team of four horses, topping the rise that levels out to easily sloping meadows, the French impressionists would have discovered a scene of quiet elegance, an inviting house set above a placid lake. Near the shore in one of the small boats drifting leisurely there might be sitting two ladies, in bustles and ruffles and pastels colors, sedately holding parasols to shade their complexions. Or a group might be glimpsed on the croquet lawn or tennis court.

Three Generations Hosts

Since 1866, three generations of Meads have been hosts to a wide variety of summer visitors, and a fourth generation grew up there. Both the farm house and road were built in 1865 by George Mead, who originally came from Ridgefield, Conn. For a time he ran a silver-plating business in Kingston, but ailing health forced him to change his mode of life and he moved his family to his mountain-side farm. The wide meadows were home to his horses, cows, chickens and pigs.

As any new country home owner soon discovers, the guests soon followed. Consequently, a room was added here, a porch there, until finally the small house rose to three stories, the large back wing was added and the spacious porches extended. Over the years it achieved the gracious, rambling proportions that are its distinction today.

To meet his guests who came up from New York, George Mead had to drive his carriage down to the Rondout, where visitors crossed on the ferry, since neither the West Shore nor the Ulster and Delaware railroads had yet been constructed. Not long ago, a man came to Mead's and told Captain Sava Milo, who bought the Mountain House in 1948, that his grandfather had several times driven Grant up from Kingston. On these excursions, Grant was usually accompanied by General George Henry Sharp, of Kingston, who was on Grant's personal staff during the Civil War. Sharp's home was the large brick mansion which is now the annex to the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Went There as Bride

Upon George Mead's death in 1905, his son William took over the management, and was assisted by his wife Annie who is now living in Bearsville with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hutty. When William died in 1913, Annie Mead ran the place assisted by the Huttys. Mrs. Mead proudly relates that she "went up there as a bride and stayed for 65 years."

It was William Mead, described by his wife as a "tall, good-looking man and a fine host," who built the small chapel in the woods a short distance below the main house.

"But I did the bossin' when they built the church," Mrs. Mead asserted, "and we used to have Episcopal services every Sunday with a minister who came up every weekend." The Hutty's were married in the chapel, which has since been the scene of the weddings of those famous in the theatre.

William like his father, was devoted to his farm and live stock and became quite a poultry fancier. Once he returned from a trip to the Bahamas with an East Indian naked-necked rooster, which he kept in the living room in a box, because he feared that the rats in the barn might destroy it. During the winter on moonlight nights the rooster kept the household awake crowing until Mrs. Mead insisted that "that thing" be put out in the chicken house. Thereafter generations of Mead's chickens were distinguished, either by long skinny necks, or by funny tufts of feathers bristling out here and there.

Some Famous Guests

A perusal of the old yellowing pages of the register offers a wealth of clues as to the early visitors and times. In addition to the signatures of Grant and Sharp, which appear both on July 30, 1873, and Aug. 18, 1877, there is also that of General Babcock, a member of the party. One entry lists a Joseph Oliver with only the North Pole for his address. Grant returned on May 18, 1878, and Andrew Johnson and Robert E. Lee are recorded as visitors on August 26, 1869. In the entries themselves are revealed the quaint expressions of the day—A. L. Shies and Lady, of Rondout; Mrs. R. H. Atwater, child and servant; Tom Brown, of Texas, was accompanied by "one nigger, one mule." The register also carries a column in which were listed the number of horses brought by each guest.

On Aug. 8, 1878, there appears a large inscription in Japanese characters by the Rev. W. E. Griffis, the then American ambassador to Japan, and from Paris, writer Jean Paul Richter came for a stay. On July 27, 1871, Rip Van Winkle, Catskill Mountains, appears to have spent one night of his long sleep there. College professors and presidents have sought it out as a place to rest and often to obtain the quiet necessary for their writing.

Prizes Old Register

Annie Mead remembers vividly the night both Overlook Mt. and the Mead's slope were afire and "we were right in the middle of it." They were advised to move out, but Mrs. Mead said she wouldn't move until "the hinges got hot."

"And so," she related complacently, "they—the 400 volunteer firemen—came up and put it out." She had one rule, however, whenever she left the house, she reminded whoever was in charge, "No matter what happens, save the old register."

In a season Mead's has accommodated as many as 65 guests at one time. Not all were famous, or for that matter always agreeable. Mrs. Hutty remembers a crotchety old lady who returned faithfully for 16 years, and each year the staff looked forward anxiously to her departure." Two Quaker sisters, however, left sweeter memories, one of whom returned steadily from Philadelphia for 32 years. She always occupied the same room, which was never referred to as No. 28, but always as "Miss Anna's room."

There were fireworks displays on 4th of July, and for diversion parties frequently walked down to the village, hiring a "rig" to bring them back. Often guests would hire wagons for a day's excursion, setting off to see the surrounding countryside, shaded by their gay parasols. In later years Barnet MacDaniel took parties for rides in his 1914 Model T Ford.

But it was the Hutty children on their sleds who really took the mountain in their stride, whizzing down the icy slopes to school. William Hutty, great-grandson of George Mead remembers the brisk morning he took off on his sleigh, and four and one-half minutes later called his father that he had arrived safely at Harder's Corners.

Mead's, it would seem, was destined to be a retreat for those who lived through dramatic events. It's present owner, Captain Sava John Milo, of the U. S. Air Force, was one of the seven Yugoslavian fliers whose appeal for commissions in the American Air Force and citizenship in this country, in 1943, brought about an act of Congress. Capt. Milo, and his wife, whose superb Serbian dishes have already achieved fame in the area, have since they purchased the hotel in December 1948, given ample proof that they are able to uphold the tradition of hospitality and gracious living for which it has long been justly famous.

Taft Would Back Move to Cut Aid

Washington, April 30 (AP)—Sen. Taft said today he would go along with a move to cut President Truman's $7,900,000,000 foreign aid bill to an even six billion dollars.

The Ohioan, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, told a reporter he would not initiate a fight for this reduction but would support any move for it on the floor.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted Monday to cut the measure by one billion dollars. Republican Leader Bridges (NH) told a newsman yesterday that a strong drive would be launched on the floor to knock off an additional 900 million dollars.

The foreign relations committee meets today to go over the bill again and send it to the floor.

The Senate Democratic leadership announced yesterday that debate on the measure will begin Monday.

Dobbin Enters Hotel

New York, April 30 (AP)—A dapple-grey horse pulling a two-wheeled buggy trotted into a ballroom of Manhattan's swank Waldorf Asoria hotel last night. Old Dobbin's appearance was no surprise, however. He and the buggy were a golden anniversary present to Frank L. Boyden, headmaster of Deerfield Academy in Massachusetts. Boyden was guest of honor at a dinner given at the hotel by alumni and friends of the academy. The gift was an acknowledgement of Boyden's hobby of riding around Deefield in a horse-drawn vehicle.

More Traffic Deaths

Chicago, April 30 (AP)—Traffic deaths in the U. S. showed a slight increase in the first three months of 1952. The National Safety Council said today the toll for the first quarter of this year was 7,930, a gain of two per cent over the first quarter of last year. The number of lives lost in motor vehicle accidents in March, 2,700, was virtually the same as in March of 1951.

Ava Is Suspended

Honolulu, April 30 (AP)—Film star Ave Gardner says Metro Goldwyn Mayer has suspended her because she came to Hawaii for a holiday with Frank Sinatra, her crooner husband. She said yesterday another factor in her suspension was that she had turned down two scripts as "not good enough for me." Sinatra is making concert appearances here.

Chicago, April 30 (AP)—Traffic deaths in the U. S. showed a slight increase in the first three months of 1952. The National Safety Council said today the toll for the first quarter of this year was 7,930, a gain of two per cent over the first quarter of last year. The number of lives lost in motor vehicle accidents in March, 2,700, was virtually the same as in March of 1951.

Ava Is Suspended

Honolulu, April 30 (AP)—Film star Ave Gardner says Metro Goldwyn Mayer has suspended her because she came to Hawaii for a holiday with Frank Sinatra, her crooner husband. She said yesterday another factor in her suspension was that she had turned down two scripts as "not good enough for me." Sinatra is making concert appearances here.

11 Bus Drivers Are Given Their Discharge

Wappingers Falls, N. Y., April 30 (AP)—Eleven of the 13 bus drivers for the Wappingers Central School District were discharged today when they appeared for work after a one-day absence because they were "sick."

Their dismissal was announced by Supervising Principal E. Joseph Kegan. He said the board acted under the Condon-Wadlin law prohibiting strikes by public employes.

The two drivers who were not fired, Kegan said, reported for work yesterday, when classes were called off.

Classes in the district's two full time and one temporary school were resumed today with the two regular drivers, six teachers and a school custodian operating the buses.

10,000 Brilliant Tulips Bloom at Old Dutch Church

Ten thousand brilliantly colored tulips are flaring into bloom at the First Dutch Church this week causing passersby to slow their gait in sheer admiration.

The tulips, vivid orange gold, crimson, white, pink and yellow, planted in honor of Queen Juliana's visit early this month, were waving their color in a cool sunny breeze today.

The bulbs, planted for the church as a labor of love by Harry Weezenaar, Sr., 86-year-old Highland connoisseur, were purchased directly from Holland with funds raised by the congregation specifically for that purpose. Weezenaar used to travel for a bulb concern in Holland before coming to this country and obtained the very finest type bulbs for planting in the churchyard.

The Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, pastor, said that Weezenaar planted the bulbs "for love of the church."

Knaust Only Bidder On Lease of Cave

Henry Knaust, vice-president of Knaust Brothers, Inc., offered the only bid at an auction in the city hall yesterday for the lease of a cave off East Union street.

The cave runs under Hasbrouck Park and is in the same general direction of that now used by the Knaust company, extending off Delaware avenue, for the growing of mushrooms.

The property is undeveloped and Knaust bid on the basis of a five-year lease at $500 a year with an option to renew the lease for another five years at $1,000 a year.

City Clerk Bernhardt S. Kramer conducted the auction. The bid is subject to the approval of Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, and if it is approved, a lease will be drawn up by Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly.

Local Merchant Buys Arlene's, 49 North Front

Arlene's, 49 North Front street, has been purchased by Henry Singer, prominent Kingston businessman, it was announced today.

Singer, who now operates Singer's department store at 60 Broadway, said that the name of the uptown store, which deals in ladies' specialties, would be changed to Singer's. He emphasized that both stores would continue in operation and that the uptown store would be expanded.

The uptown store, which carries a wide range of sportswear, maternity clothes, lingerie and hosiery, will continue to operate as a "popular price apparel shop," Singer said. "Its policy will be the same as that of the downtown store—the best values at the lowest prices."

The downtown store, carrying wearing apparel for men, women and children, was established 40 years ago by Louis Singer, father of the present owner.

Singer's parents arrived in this country from the Ukraine when he was seven months old, later settling in Kingston. He attended public schools, graduating from Kingston High School. He left Cornell University in 1925 to enter his father's business.

Singer is serving currently as president of the Downtown Businessmen's Association and vice president of the Chamber of Commerce. He is a member of the Lions Club, is married and has two sons, Jerry, 10, and Lewis, 17. They reside at 118 Foxhall avenue.

Bernard Schwartz, owner of Arlene's, said that he has no immediate plans. He will continue his residence in Kingston.

Shriners Going To Albany Program

A large number of Shriners from Kingston and Ulster county will attend the ceremonial Saturday, May 3, in Albany when Cyprus Temple, AAONMS, will observe its 75th anniversary at the Washington street armory. There will be a class of candidates at noon and the ceremonies will extend into the evening.

The honored guest will be the Imperial Potentate of the United States Illstrious Robert Gardiner Wilson, Jr.

Cyprus Temple was organized in 1877 with a membership of 12. Today there are more than 3,000 members.

The evening program will commence following a parade from Masonic Temple to the armory where there will be a band concert and drill. During the evening a floor show will be staged.

Local Shriners plan to go to Albany by private cars instead of the usual bus which is frequently operated for big ceremonials.

Will Launch 8th Barge Tomorrow

The eighth steel deck barge built by Island Dock Inc., since last Jan. 1 will be launched at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow.

The craft is the sixth of the 110-foot type. Among others attending the launching will be Lt. Commander John Bartlett and Lt. (jg) Herbert Cooper, navy inspectors, and Maitland Smith, civilian inspector for the navy.

General Scores

record that had stood since 1932. It may have been the result of a turnout of thousands of independent voters, swelling the Republican total beyond any previous mark.

Lodge Sees 'Clincher'

The election "clinches the case for the nomination of Eisenhower," his national campaign manager, Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., said last night.

"In a clear cut contest between Eisenhower and Taft, the people have loudly proclaimed again that they prefer Eisenhower," Lodge said. "(He) has now conclusively proven that he will be the strongest possible Republican nominee for president."

Taft's state campaign manager, Basil Brewer, New Bedford publisher, however, said Eisenhower won because of Democratic assistance. He declared:

"The wide open solicitation and prodding of the Eisenhower leadership to procure Democrat and so-called independents to vote in the Republican primary raises a serious question as to whether today's voting was a strictly Republican primary.

"Never before in the history of the Republican party has there been such a brazen attempt to secure the assistance of Democrats in selecting a Republican presidential nominee."

Democrats Liked Taft

Taft also was the choice of many Democrats.

Eisenhower apparently carried all the major industrial cities and centers in Massachusetts. He had nearly a seven-to-one margin over Taft in Pittsfield, and was an easy winner in Attleboro, Everett, Waltham, Fall River and others.

Taft won the popular vote in New Bedford—the only major industrial city in the state in which he showed strength.

All of Taft's delegate-candidates were identified with him on the ballot yesterday, designated "pledged" or "favorable." Eisenhower's candidates were not, since he had not given the necessary written consent to a slate at the time it was filed.

The Massachusetts primary was the eighth election in the presidential campaign. Eisenhower won in New Hampshire, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Massachusetts. Taft came out on top in Wisconsin, Nebraska and Illinois. The Minnesota primary went to Harold Stassen, but Eisenhower racked up a towering toll of write-in votes.

Cleanup Is Promised

New York, April 30 (AP)—AFL leaders representing the major maritime unions have pledged a clean-up of New York's racket ridden dockland and the guarantee of "internal democracy" to all union locals. The program was announced yesterday at the initial meeting of the newly-formed Brooklyn Port Council, the forerunner of similar organizations to be set up in Manhattan, Staten Island and New Jersey port areas.

30 Mile Zone

Among orders issued recently by James R. Macduff, chairman of the New York State Traffic Commission, was the extension northerly from Port Ewen "to the southerly Kingston city line, the 30 mile an hour speed restriction presently in effect on Route U. S. 9W."

Corsi Directs Board To Draft Wage Order

New York, April 30 (AP)—State Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi, citing rising living costs, today named a special board to draft a new minimum wage order for 232,000 New York restaurant employes.

Corsi also said in a statement that he would soon appoint four other boards to consider revisions in wage orders covering 172,000 workers in the hotel, laundry, dry cleaning and beauty service industries in the state.

"Sharp increases in living costs since present minimum wage levels were established (in the five industries in 1947) make this action necessary," Corsi declared. "A re-examination of wage structures . . . will pave the way for a realistic readjustment of wage floors."

Present basic minimum wage rates in the restaurant industry range from 30-cents-an-hour for table waiters in communities under 10,000 in population, to 52-cents-an-hour for non-service workers in this city. Rates for the other four industries were not available.

Vast Jungle Area

giving up the hunt at dark, returned to the air at dawn.

Plateau Landing Theorized

The search was spurred by hope that the plane may have been able to crash land somewhere on the barren plateau in mid-Brazil.

The double-decked Boeing stratocruiser, a peacetime development from the B-29 Superfortress, was the first plane of its kind to be reported missing. It is powered by four 2800-horsepower engines.

The powerful plane—named the Clipper Good Hope—had flown from Buenos Aires, Argentina, to Rio de Janeiro on the first leg of its "El Presidente" flight to the United States. It took off shortly after dark Monday night for Port of Spain, Trinidad, its only other scheduled halt before reaching New York.

It was due at Port of Spain at 9 a. m. EST yesterday, and carried enough fuel to stay in the air four hours beyond its scheduled flying time for the 2,600-mile trip to Trinidad.

Last Word Received

The last word from it was a radioed flight report heard at Barreiras in Brazil's Bahia State—a town nearly 900 miles north of Rio de Janeiro. The routine report said all was well.

Its remaining route lay over barren plateaus and thick jungles to Belem at the mouth of the Amazon, then along the northern Atlantic coast of South America to Trinidad. Pan-American World Airways officials said planes from the U. S. Navy and Air Force, the Brazilian Air Force and civilian airlines were engaged in the emergency search over the entire route.

Airline spokesmen said the area of the most intense search is a level, open prairie, cut by three jungle-lined rivers, but that even the rivers have long sandbars where a troubled plane might be able to land.

Hard Work

If it were possible for one bee to gather all the material for a pound of honey, it is believed it would have to work every day for eight years.

Kingston Point

but it was indicated today that the boats will make only two trips a week during July and August, and these will be on Fridays and Mondays.

Local Efforts Thwarted

The fact that the Kingston Point docking facilities are owned by the New York Central railroad and the bulk of the park land by another concern has thwarted local efforts to gain resumption of Day Line service here.

A main obstacle in efforts made during the past two or three years was the refusal of Indian Point Corp., to least such land as would be needed for the parking of buses and taxis west of the dock. The railroad has always been willing to lease the dock property, but without the other it is impossible to establish a boat station.

'Quick Sale' Stressed

The announcement of sale by the New York firm stresses the fact that the former park land is up for "quick sale." It lists it as a "waterfront property with dock and railroad siding."

It is unrestricted land on the Hudson river, the firm says, and is an "Excellent location for bulk storage," or for industrial purposes. It also stresses there is a hard road on the land leading from the dock.

The announcement said Bernard C. Wolper will be at the Governor Clinton Hotel here all day Friday for interviews.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk and Albert Kurdt, executive secretary of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, who with others, had investigated the possibility of obtaining dock facilities at the point, indicated today that the city is unlikely to fare any better through sale of the former park land.

Marine Corps plane damaged a MIG in another encounter. UN warplanes swarmed over North Korea on bombing missions in clearing skies. Allied infantrymen braced themselves on the 155-mile ground front.

Gibson Let Out On Probation for Diner Robbery

E. Edward Gibson, 40, one of three Poughkeepsie men arrested after the January 22 robbery of the Highland diner on 9W outside the village, was put on probation in County Court this morning.

The others, Theodore Aposporos and Frank Mancuso, have been indicted and are awaiting trial.

Gibson was saved from serving a year and a half to three years at Clinton State Prison, Dannemora, by a letter from Frank McCann, the diner proprietor for whom he worked.

His attorney, Charles Saccoman, presented the letter to the court and District Attorney Louis Bruhn.

McCann asked leniency, and that Gibson make restitution of half the loss, $213.50.

Judge John M. Cashin considered the request in passing sentence, and ordered Gibson to support his family.

Tie-up Giveaway

Gibson, who had never been in trouble before, was found tied up in the diner at 7 a. m., and the cash box gone. He said two men took it after they bound him.

State police, suspicious of the way he was tied, said he admitted faking the holdup during questioning.

He was indicted for grand larceny, first degree, but had previously entered a plea of guilty to a second degree charge.

Mancuso and Aposporos pleaded innocent to the robbery charge, were indicted by the grand jury, and are awaiting trial.

Police said that all the money but $426.91 of the $700 first reported missing has been recovered.

Other criminal cases will be heard at 10 a. m. Thursday, and some will be heard June 3, when Judge Cashin reconvenes the term for additional work.

Meeting Slated To Talk Election

Louis D. Pascale, national representative of the Shipbuilders Union, CIO, said today that the New York office of the National Labor Relations Board has called a joint meeting of representatives of three area shipyards the CIO and AFL unions for May 6 to discuss the date for a union election.

The Washington board of the NLRB recently granted the shipyard workers the privilege of an election and it is expected that a date near the middle of May will be set following the meeting at 2 Park avenue, New York at 10 a. m., on May 6.

The Hiltebrant, Island Dock and Reliance Marine Transportation & Construction Corp., yards will be represented at the session along with the CIO Shipbuilders Union and the Kingston Metal Trades Union, AFL.

Shipyard workers in Kingston and vicinity have been affiliated with the AFL for some time. The election will be held to determine if they desire affiliation with the CIO.

11 Bus Drivers Are Given Their Discharge

Wappingers Falls, N. Y., April 30 (AP)—Eleven of the 13 bus drivers for the Wappingers Central School District were discharged today when they appeared for work after a one-day absence because they were "sick."

Their dismissal was announced by Supervising Principal E. Joseph Kegan. He said the board acted under the Condon-Wadlin law prohibiting strikes by public employes.

The two drivers who were not fired, Kegan said, reported for work yesterday, when classes were called off.

Classes in the district's two full time and one temporary school were resumed today with the two regular drivers, six teachers and a school custodian operating the buses.

10,000 Brilliant Tulips Bloom at Old Dutch Church

Ten thousand brilliantly colored tulips are flaring into bloom at the First Dutch Church this week causing passersby to slow their gait in sheer admiration.

The tulips, vivid orange gold, crimson, white, pink and yellow, planted in honor of Queen Juliana's visit early this month, were waving their color in a cool sunny breeze today.

The bulbs, planted for the church as a labor of love by Harry Weezenaar, Sr., 86-year-old Highland connoisseur, were purchased directly from Holland with funds raised by the congregation specifically for that purpose. Weezenaar used to travel for a bulb concern in Holland before coming to this country and obtained the very finest type bulbs for planting in the churchyard.

The Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, pastor, said that Weezenaar planted the bulbs "for love of the church."

Knaust Only Bidder On Lease of Cave

Henry Knaust, vice-president of Knaust Brothers, Inc., offered the only bid at an auction in the city hall yesterday for the lease of a cave off East Union street.

The cave runs under Hasbrouck Park and is in the same general direction of that now used by the Knaust company, extending off Delaware avenue, for the growing of mushrooms.

The property is undeveloped and Knaust bid on the basis of a five-year lease at $500 a year with an option to renew the lease for another five years at $1,000 a year.

City Clerk Bernhardt S. Kramer conducted the auction. The bid is subject to the approval of Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, and if it is approved, a lease will be drawn up by Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly.

Local Merchant Buys Arlene's, 49 North Front

Arlene's, 49 North Front street, has been purchased by Henry Singer, prominent Kingston businessman, it was announced today.

Singer, who now operates Singer's department store at 60 Broadway, said that the name of the uptown store, which deals in ladies' specialties, would be changed to Singer's. He emphasized that both stores would continue in operation and that the uptown store would be expanded.

The uptown store, which carries a wide range of sportswear, maternity clothes, lingerie and hosiery, will continue to operate as a "popular price apparel shop," Singer said. "Its policy will be the same as that of the downtown store—the best values at the lowest prices."

The downtown store, carrying wearing apparel for men, women and children, was established 40 years ago by Louis Singer, father of the present owner.

Singer's parents arrived in this country from the Ukraine when he was seven months old, later settling in Kingston. He attended public schools, graduating from Kingston High School. He left Cornell University in 1925 to enter his father's business.

Singer is serving currently as president of the Downtown Businessmen's Association and vice president of the Chamber of Commerce. He is a member of the Lions Club, is married and has two sons, Jerry, 10, and Lewis, 17. They reside at 118 Foxhall avenue.

Bernard Schwartz, owner of Arlene's, said that he has no immediate plans. He will continue his residence in Kingston.

Shriners Going To Albany Program

A large number of Shriners from Kingston and Ulster county will attend the ceremonial Saturday, May 3, in Albany when Cyprus Temple, AAONMS, will observe its 75th anniversary at the Washington street armory. There will be a class of candidates at noon and the ceremonies will extend into the evening.

The honored guest will be the Imperial Potentate of the United States Illstrious Robert Gardiner Wilson, Jr.

Cyprus Temple was organized in 1877 with a membership of 12. Today there are more than 3,000 members.

The evening program will commence following a parade from Masonic Temple to the armory where there will be a band concert and drill. During the evening a floor show will be staged.

Local Shriners plan to go to Albany by private cars instead of the usual bus which is frequently operated for big ceremonials.

Will Launch 8th Barge Tomorrow

The eighth steel deck barge built by Island Dock Inc., since last Jan. 1 will be launched at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow.

The barge, built under U. S. Navy supervision for army use, is designated as BC6156 and Mrs. Herbert Maxwell, of 28 Smith avenue, will be the sponsor.

The craft is the sixth of the 110-foot type. Among others attending the launching will be Lt. Commander John Bartlett and Lt. (jg) Herbert Cooper, navy inspectors, and Maitland Smith, civilian inspector for the navy.

General Scores

record that had stood since 1932. It may have been the result of a turnout of thousands of independent voters, swelling the Republican total beyond any previous mark.

Lodge Sees 'Clincher'

The election "clinches the case for the nomination of Eisenhower," his national campaign manager, Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., said last night.

"In a clear cut contest between Eisenhower and Taft, the people have loudly proclaimed again that they prefer Eisenhower," Lodge said. "(He) has now conclusively proven that he will be the strongest possible Republican nominee for president."

Taft's state campaign manager, Basil Brewer, New Bedford publisher, however, said Eisenhower won because of Democratic assistance. He declared:

"The wide open solicitation and prodding of the Eisenhower leadership to procure Democrat and so-called independents to vote in the Republican primary raises a serious question as to whether today's voting was a strictly Republican primary.

"Never before in the history of the Republican party has there been such a brazen attempt to secure the assistance of Democrats in selecting a Republican presidential nominee."

Democrats Liked Taft

Taft also was the choice of many Democrats.

Eisenhower apparently carried all the major industrial cities and centers in Massachusetts. He had nearly a seven-to-one margin over Taft in Pittsfield, and was an easy winner in Attleboro, Everett, Waltham, Fall River and others.

Taft won the popular vote in New Bedford—the only major industrial city in the state in which he showed strength.

All of Taft's delegate-candidates were identified with him on the ballot yesterday, designated "pledged" or "favorable." Eisenhower's candidates were not, since he had not given the necessary written consent to a slate at the time it was filed.

The Massachusetts primary was the eighth election in the presidential campaign. Eisenhower won in New Hampshire, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Massachusetts. Taft came out on top in Wisconsin, Nebraska and Illinois. The Minnesota primary went to Harold Stassen, but Eisenhower racked up a towering toll of write-in votes.

Cleanup Is Promised

New York, April 30 (AP)—AFL leaders representing the major maritime unions have pledged a clean-up of New York's racket ridden dockland and the guarantee of "internal democracy" to all union locals. The program was announced yesterday at the initial meeting of the newly-formed Brooklyn Port Council, the forerunner of similar organizations to be set up in Manhattan, Staten Island and New Jersey port areas.

30 Mile Zone

Among orders issued recently by James R. Macduff, chairman of the New York State Traffic Commission, was the extension northerly from Port Ewen "to the southerly Kingston city line, the 30 mile an hour speed restriction presently in effect on Route U. S. 9W."

Corsi Directs Board To Draft Wage Order

New York, April 30 (AP)—State Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi, citing rising living costs, today named a special board to draft a new minimum wage order for 232,000 New York restaurant employes.

Corsi also said in a statement that he would soon appoint four other boards to consider revisions in wage orders covering 172,000 workers in the hotel, laundry, dry cleaning and beauty service industries in the state.

"Sharp increases in living costs since present minimum wage levels were established (in the five industries in 1947) make this action necessary," Corsi declared. "A re-examination of wage structures . . . will pave the way for a realistic readjustment of wage floors."

Present basic minimum wage rates in the restaurant industry range from 30-cents-an-hour for table waiters in communities under 10,000 in population, to 52-cents-an-hour for non-service workers in this city. Rates for the other four industries were not available.

Vast Jungle Area

giving up the hunt at dark, returned to the air at dawn.

Plateau Landing Theorized

The search was spurred by hope that the plane may have been able to crash land somewhere on the barren plateau in mid-Brazil.

The double-decked Boeing stratocruiser, a peacetime development from the B-29 Superfortress, was the first plane of its kind to be reported missing. It is powered by four 2800-horsepower engines.

The powerful plane—named the Clipper Good Hope—had flown from Buenos Aires, Argentina, to Rio de Janeiro on the first leg of its "El Presidente" flight to the United States. It took off shortly after dark Monday night for Port of Spain, Trinidad, its only other scheduled halt before reaching New York.

It was due at Port of Spain at 9 a. m. EST yesterday, and carried enough fuel to stay in the air four hours beyond its scheduled flying time for the 2,600-mile trip to Trinidad.

Last Word Received

The last word from it was a radioed flight report heard at Barreiras in Brazil's Bahia State—a town nearly 900 miles north of Rio de Janeiro. The routine report said all was well.

Its remaining route lay over barren plateaus and thick jungles to Belem at the mouth of the Amazon, then along the northern Atlantic coast of South America to Trinidad. Pan-American World Airways officials said planes from the U. S. Navy and Air Force, the Brazilian Air Force and civilian airlines were engaged in the emergency search over the entire route.

Airline spokesmen said the area of the most intense search is a level, open prairie, cut by three jungle-lined rivers, but that even the rivers have long sandbars where a troubled plane might be able to land.

Kingston Point

but it was indicated today that the boats will make only two trips a week during July and August, and these will be on Fridays and Mondays.

Local Efforts Thwarted

The fact that the Kingston Point docking facilities are owned by the New York Central railroad and the bulk of the park land by another concern has thwarted local efforts to gain resumption of Day Line service here.

A main obstacle in efforts made during the past two or three years was the refusal of Indian Point Corp., to least such land as would be needed for the parking of buses and taxis west of the dock. The railroad has always been willing to lease the dock property, but without the other it is impossible to establish a boat station.

'Quick Sale' Stressed

The announcement of sale by the New York firm stresses the fact that the former park land is up for "quick sale." It lists it as a "waterfront property with dock and railroad siding."

It is unrestricted land on the Hudson river, the firm says, and is an "Excellent location for bulk storage," or for industrial purposes. It also stresses there is a hard road on the land leading from the dock.

The announcement said Bernard C. Wolper will be at the Governor Clinton Hotel here all day Friday for interviews.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk and Albert Kurdt, executive secretary of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, who with others, had investigated the possibility of obtaining dock facilities at the point, indicated today that the city is unlikely to fare any better through sale of the former park land.

Gibson Let Out On Probation for Diner Robbery

E. Edward Gibson, 40, one of three Poughkeepsie men arrested after the January 22 robbery of the Highland diner on 9W outside the village, was put on probation in County Court this morning.

The others, Theodore Aposporos and Frank Mancuso, have been indicted and are awaiting trial.

Gibson was saved from serving a year and a half to three years at Clinton State Prison, Dannemora, by a letter from Frank McCann, the diner proprietor for whom he worked.

His attorney, Charles Saccoman, presented the letter to the court and District Attorney Louis Bruhn.

McCann asked leniency, and that Gibson make restitution of half the loss, $213.50.

Judge John M. Cashin considered the request in passing sentence, and ordered Gibson to support his family.

Tie-up Giveaway

Gibson, who had never been in trouble before, was found tied up in the diner at 7 a. m., and the cash box gone. He said two men took it after they bound him.

State police, suspicious of the way he was tied, said he admitted faking the holdup during questioning.

He was indicted for grand larceny, first degree, but had previously entered a plea of guilty to a second degree charge.

Mancuso and Aposporos pleaded innocent to the robbery charge, were indicted by the grand jury, and are awaiting trial.

Police said that all the money but $426.91 of the $700 first reported missing has been recovered.

Other criminal cases will be heard at 10 a. m. Thursday, and some will be heard June 3, when Judge Cashin reconvenes the term for additional work.

Meeting Slated To Talk Election

Louis D. Pascale, national representative of the Shipbuilders Union, CIO, said today that the New York office of the National Labor Relations Board has called a joint meeting of representatives of three area shipyards the CIO and AFL unions for May 6 to discuss the date for a union election.

The Washington board of the NLRB recently granted the shipyard workers the privilege of an election and it is expected that a date near the middle of May will be set following the meeting at 2 Park avenue, New York at 10 a. m., on May 6.

The Hiltebrant, Island Dock and Reliance Marine Transportation & Construction Corp., yards will be represented at the session along with the CIO Shipbuilders Union and the Kingston Metal Trades Union, AFL.

Shipyard workers in Kingston and vicinity have been affiliated with the AFL for some time. The election will be held to determine if they desire affiliation with the CIO.

Everybody in KINGSTON Helped Write This Story

...and we do mean EVERYBODY!

—You CUSTOMERS, who, with others, purchased more than $800,000,000 worth of Cities Service petroleum, natural gas and other products in 1951 . . .

—You SHAREHOLDERS, who, along with 200,000 shareholders in other localities, helped furnish our working tools . . .

—You, our SERVICE STATION DEALERS and 17,000 others like you, who distributed our products . . .

—You INSURANCE POLICY HOLDERS and SAVINGS BANK DEPOSITORS who share in this success story because a successful operation enabled us to pay you for the hire of your money . . .

—And you TAXPAYERS also share when a company is operated efficiently. Cities Service in 1951 paid more than $50,000,000 in corporate income taxes which, if the Company had not been efficiently operated, would have been added to the tax burden of other taxpayers. (As Ralph Hendershot, noted Financial Editor, wrote in the New York World-Telegram and Sun, "By working real hard in 1951, the officials and employees of the Cities Service Co. managed to earn $20,000,000 more for Uncle Sam than they did the year before and $518,000 more for the company.")

This joint effort of investors, employees, managers, distributors and dealers, as described in our 1951 Annual Report, is an inspiring chapter in the Great American Story of Progress. Here are some interesting facts about the growth of Cities Service in the past six years, since World War II:

In 1945, gross income was $362,385,000, principally representing customers' purchases of products and services. In 1951, gross income was $835,565,000—an increase of almost half a billion dollars.

Common Stockholders' equity increased from $149,000,000 to $413,000,000.

During this period, Cities Service expended $447,000,000 in the oil and natural gas business.

Long-term debt and preferred stock, including prior claims thereon, decreased $176,000,000.

Provision for taxes on income increased from $7,474,000 to $50,744,000.

To our friends in Kingston who helped make 1951 a big year for us and for Cities Service—many thanks! We shall do everything we can to show our appreciation by making this a "continued story" of good service through 1952.

Everybody in KINGSTON Helped Write This Story

...and we do mean EVERYBODY!

—You CUSTOMERS, who, with others, purchased more than $800,000,000 worth of Cities Service petroleum, natural gas and other products in 1951...

—You SHAREHOLDERS, who, along with 200,000 shareholders in other localities, helped furnish our working tools...

—You, our SERVICE STATION DEALERS and 17,000 others like you, who distributed our products...

—You INSURANCE POLICY HOLDERS and SAVINGS BANK DEPOSITORS who share in this success story because a successful operation enabled us to pay you for the hire of your money...

—And you TAXPAYERS also share when a company is operated efficiently. Cities Service in 1951 paid more than $50,000,000 in corporate income taxes which, if the Company had not been efficiently operated, would have been added to the tax burden of other taxpayers. (As Ralph Hendershot, noted Financial Editor, wrote in the New York World-Telegram and Sun, "By working real hard in 1951, the officials and employees of the Cities Service Co. managed to earn $20,000,000 more for Uncle Sam than they did the year before and $518,000 more for the company.")

This joint effort of investors, employees, managers, distributors and dealers, as described in our 1951 Annual Report, is an inspiring chapter in the Great American Story of Progress. Here are some interesting facts about the growth of Cities Service in the past six years, since World War II:

In 1945, gross income was $362,385,000, principally representing customers' purchases of products and services. In 1951, gross income was $835,565,000—an increase of almost half a billion dollars.

Common Stockholders' equity increased from $149,000,000 to $413,000,000.

During this period, Cities Service expended $447,000,000 in the oil and natural gas business.

Long-term debt and preferred stock, including prior claims thereon, decreased $176,000,000.

Provision for taxes on income increased from $7,474,000 to $50,744,000.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of 'Etiquette,' 'Children Are People,' etc.)

MOTHER OR STEPMOTHER, OR BOTH?

A situation for which no definite answer can be given is described as follows: "My best friend is going to be married this summer and I am planning on giving her a bridal shower. Her mother and father are divorced and her father has remarried. She is on very friendly terms with her stepmother and often stays with her father and stepmother. Would it be proper to invite both the bride's mother and stepmother to the shower?"

The only way of answering this is to know how these mothers feel toward each other! If you know that they willingly meet, it will be quite proper to invite both. If they avoid each other, then you will have to make the wisest choice you can between the two.

How Well Does She Know Him?

Dear Mrs. Post: May a girl be permitted to accept a watch from a young man who is "special" but as yet not her fiance?

Answer: Propriety depends upon the value of the watch. That is, if it is obviously inexpensive and he is a man she has long known well, it might be an entirely proper birthday or Christmas gift. But if it is of great value, especially if set with jewels, it would not be proper unless they are engaged — in which case she can accept practically anything "for her adornment."

The Trousseau Tea

Dear Mrs. Post: Can you give me information on a party that I believe is called the "trousseau tea"? Is this something new in the way of bridal parties?

Answer: On the contrary, this is a very old-fashioned party much more typical of yesterday than of today. Customarily the bride invited her intimate friends —girls only—to come in in the afternoon to see her trousseau—which was all laid out on display, so as to be seen easily and quickly. After looking at her things, she then served tea.

Showers can be friendly and fun and it is not necessary to spend great sums of money, explains Mrs. Post in her leaflet E-13, "Showers," which tells how to have showers for the new home, the baby and the bride. HOW TO MAKE SURE YOU GET fresher coffee!

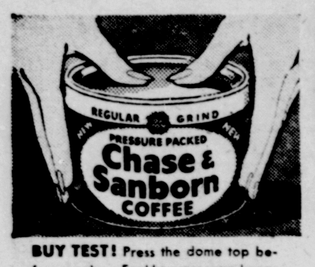
EYE TEST! Look for the dome-top can . . . it's pressure packed . . . with all the coffee's flavor sealed in under pressure! You can test it for freshness! Now look at the flat-top can. It's not pressure packed—you can't test it for freshness!



BUY TEST! Press the dome top before you buy. Feel how pressure keeps it firm. When it's firm, it's fresher. If it's not firm, take another.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of 'Etiquette,' 'Children Are People,' etc.)

MOTHER OR STEPMOTHER, OR BOTH?

A situation for which no definite answer can be given is described as follows: "My best friend is going to be married this summer and I am planning on giving her a bridal shower. Her mother and father are divorced and her father has remarried. She is on very friendly terms with her stepmother and often stays with her father and stepmother. Would it be proper to invite both the bride's mother and stepmother to the shower?"

The only way of answering this is to know how these mothers feel toward each other! If you know that they willingly meet, it will be quite proper to invite both. If they avoid each other, then you will have to make the wisest choice you can between the two.

How Well Does She Know Him?

Dear Mrs. Post: May a girl be permitted to accept a watch from a young man who is "special" but as yet not her fiance?

Answer: Propriety depends upon the value of the watch. That is, if it is obviously inexpensive and he is a man she has long known well, it might be an entirely proper birthday or Christmas gift. But if it is of great value, especially if set with jewels, it would not be proper unless they are engaged — in which case she can accept practically anything "for her adornment."

The Trousseau Tea

Dear Mrs. Post: Can you give me information on a party that I believe is called the "trousseau tea"? Is this something new in the way of bridal parties?

Answer: On the contrary, this is a very old-fashioned party much more typical of yesterday than of today. Customarily the bride invited her intimate friends —girls only—to come in in the afternoon to see her trousseau—which was all laid out on display, so as to be seen easily and quickly. After looking at her things, she then served tea.

Psychic Thoughts Are Very Valuable

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When today's hand came along in the recent Eastern Tournament, West was sick and tired of all the smart-aleck opponents who bid suits that they didn't really hold. This was one time that West was going to show up the psychic bid so that East would know what suit to lead.

So West doubled two clubs, never dreaming that the hand would be played there. Naturally North re-doubled to show the power of his hand. East couldn't very well run out to spades, and he shuddered at the thought of bidding diamonds. Besides, he hoped South would run out. But South was happy enough to stay where he was. And so was West—for a short time.

West opened the jack of hearts, and dummy won with the king. Declarer cashed the ace of clubs and entered his hand with the queen of hearts to lead the jack of clubs. West hopped up with the king of clubs, and East dropped the eight. This confirmed declarer's very strong suspicion that West had started with five trumps.

West shifted to spades, but dummy won with the ace. Declarer then led the ace of hearts from dummy, allowing West to ruff. This reduced West to two trumps, while South had three.

West led his other spade, and South ruffed. Declarer next cashed the queen of clubs, leaving one trump in his own hand and one trump in the West hand. Then South returned to the hearts.

By this time it was obvious to West that he could not set the contract. East's discouraging discards in diamonds also indicated that South held the king of that suit. West didn't want to ruff a heart and then lead diamonds to South, so he discarded two diamonds on the fourth and fifth hearts.

Declarer now had eight tricks safely home. It was therefore safe to lead his last trump, forcing West into the lead. West had to lead away from his diamonds after all, giving South an extra trick.

South scored 710 points for the re-doubled contract with an overtrick—far more than the value of the game in hearts that was made at most of the other tables.

Moscow Gets Rose Oil

Belgrade (AP) — For years, Bulgaria boasted a monopoly in production of attar of roses for the world market. To protect its two-century-old trade in that field, it had banned the export of Bulgarian roses from which the attar is made. But Russia sniffed a pretty penny in the offing when, in the guise of protector, it took over domination of Bulgarian economic affairs.

Israel Reaches Fourth Milestone

As Israel celebrates her fourth anniversary as an independent and sovereign state on April 30, her citizens look back upon a record of trial and achievement in many fields. Her experience during this period encourages her people to believe in the fulfillment of the prophesy—"They who sow in tears shall reap in joy."

During her first four years Israel has doubled her population. Some 600,000 immigrants from 60 countries, mainly from Europe, have swelled her total to 1,600,000 people.

To protect herself from external aggression a defense force was created in 1948. Two years' military service is compulsory for all men 18-29, and single women 18-26 years of age.

Principal crops of this agricultural country are citrus fruits, wheat, olives and figs. The area under cultivation during 1951 was 950,000 acres—a rise of 700,000 acres in four years.

Industry has outstripped all other endeavors since 1947. Across the country more than 3000 new plants have been set up. Workers engaged in industry have doubled in this period.

The growing of citrus fruits is the most lucrative commodity. This item is used chiefly in foreign commerce to bring needed capital into the country to bolster a weak economy.

A democratic nation, Israel has been recognized by 61 nations and was elected to the UN in 1949. Her foreign policy is based on mutual aid with every peace-loving state.

Decline in Sales

New York, April 30 (AP)—General Motors Corporation reports the volume of defense deliveries in the first quarter was not sufficient to offset a decline in sales of civilian products. GM, the nation's second largest money maker in 1951, reported lower first quarter sales and earnings than a year ago. It attributed the lower civilian sales to additional government restrictions on production.

Net income for the first quarter was listed at $127,023,260, equal to $1.42 a share, compared with $141,520,651, or $1.58 a share, in the first quarter of 1951. Net sales were $1,793,085,048 in the first quarter this year and $1,959,879,617 in the comparable period last year.

Death Is Reported

Moscow, April 30 (AP)—Red Star, the Russian army magazine, reported today the death of Lt. Gen. Mikhail Molev of the engineer corps.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, April 29 — Howard Richards of New York motored here Sunday to inspect his summer place in the village center. Howard was accompanied to Shokan by his mother-in-law, Mrs. Hugo Gustafson, Rhinebeck resident, who recently returned home after spending several months in her native Sweden.

Delaware county continues to be plagued by rabies incidents of which the people up there have had more than their share during the past two years. Thomas Howe, an elderly man, and Elsie Harris, 14, were bitten by a fox at Walton village and both are now undergoing treatment. A couple of days later, Albert Kellogg, also of the Walton area, was attacked and bitten by a raccoon while pouring milk into his creamery cans. He too is taking shots as a preventive measure as both coon and fox were found rabid when sent to Cornell.

Callers here Saturday included Ray Winne, county law enforcement officer of many years service. He was on his way to Samsonville in the line of duty and was driving the county's fine new SPCA ambulance. Ray seems to take a keen interest in his work of succoring neglected animals.

Eddie Secor, Ashokan War 2 veteran, has secured employment at the IBM plant in Poughkeepsie. Eddie also has 14 head of cattle and a team of horses to tend to, but in these duties he is assisted by his octogenarian uncle, Edwin D. Secor.

Speaking of cows and such, Robert Foreman of West Brook (way up the RR) has recently completed a 54-foot addition onto his barn which now has an overall length of 153 feet. So now, Robert can go ahead and increase his herd of black and whites from 36 to 50 head. Improvements include steel stanchions, water fed to the individual buckets under pressure, a power drop cleaner and a better ventilating system. No wonder they get lots of milk up that way!

The Rev. Richard Coons at the Sunday morning services in the Shokan Reformed Church preached on the subject, Basis of a United Community.

The Freeman's Samsonville correspondent in his news dated May 11, 1880, tells of the presence over in the big hoop-pole country of divers "wild women of the woods" who while in pursuit of a citizen of those parts chased the luckless fellow upstairs in a house with such determination that he jumped through a window, taking sash and glass to the ground with him. Now your columnist, although fairly conversant with Olive folklore, including that of Samsonville (once yclept the "busiest village in the Catskill Mountains"), never before heard of these so-called ferocious wood nymphs. But where there's smoke there must be some fire. Must remember to quiz our Old Timer anent this yarn, for while he may have been only "knee-high to a grasshopper" back there in '80, and therefore knowing naught of wild women on the lower slopes of Mombaccus, he doubtless has "heerd tell on 'em."

Schools Must Expand

Albany, N. Y., April 30 (AP)—The state education commissioner today urged public schools to begin planning at once expansions to meet growing school enrollments. In a letter to be read at communities' annual school meetings, Dr. Lewis A. Wilson said that "one of the most serious problems facing many schools today is that of overcrowded classrooms and inadequate buildings."

He said the schools must plan to handle an increase of more than 100,000 pupils a year for the next several years because of the increased birth rate.

Psychic Thoughts Are Very Valuable

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When today's hand came along in the recent Eastern Tournament, West was sick and tired of all the smart-aleck opponents who bid suits that they didn't really hold. This was one time that West was going to show up the psychic bid so that East would know what suit to lead.

So West doubled two clubs, never dreaming that the hand would be played there. Naturally North re-doubled to show the power of his hand. East couldn't very well run out to spades, and he shuddered at the thought of bidding diamonds. Besides, he hoped South would run out. But South was happy enough to stay where he was. And so was West—for a short time.

West opened the jack of hearts, and dummy won with the king. Declarer cashed the ace of clubs and entered his hand with the queen of hearts to lead the jack of clubs. West hopped up with the king of clubs, and East dropped the eight. This confirmed declarer's very strong suspicion that West had started with five trumps.

West shifted to spades, but dummy won with the ace. Declarer then led the ace of hearts from dummy, allowing West to ruff. This reduced West to two trumps, while South had three.

West led his other spade, and South ruffed. Declarer next cashed the queen of clubs, leaving one trump in his own hand and one trump in the West hand. Then South returned to the hearts.

By this time it was obvious to West that he could not set the contract. East's discouraging discards in diamonds also indicated that South held the king of that suit. West didn't want to ruff a heart and then lead diamonds to South, so he discarded two diamonds on the fourth and fifth hearts.

Declarer now had eight tricks safely home. It was therefore safe to lead his last trump, forcing West into the lead. West had to lead away from his diamonds after all, giving South an extra trick.

South scored 710 points for the re-doubled contract with an overtrick—far more than the value of the game in hearts that was made at most of the other tables.

Moscow Gets Rose Oil

Belgrade (AP) — For years, Bulgaria boasted a monopoly in production of attar of roses for the world market. To protect its two-century-old trade in that field, it had banned the export of Bulgarian roses from which the attar is made. But Russia sniffed a pretty penny in the offing when, in the guise of protector, it took over domination of Bulgarian economic affairs.

Israel Reaches Fourth Milestone

As Israel celebrates her fourth anniversary as an independent and sovereign state on April 30, her citizens look back upon a record of trial and achievement in many fields. Her experience during this period encourages her people to believe in the fulfillment of the prophesy—"They who sow in tears shall reap in joy."

During her first four years Israel has doubled her population. Some 600,000 immigrants from 60 countries, mainly from Europe, have swelled her total to 1,600,000 people.

To protect herself from external aggression a defense force was created in 1948. Two years' military service is compulsory for all men 18-29, and single women 18-26 years of age.

Principal crops of this agricultural country are citrus fruits, wheat, olives and figs. The area under cultivation during 1951 was 950,000 acres—a rise of 700,000 acres in four years.

Industry has outstripped all other endeavors since 1947. Across the country more than 3000 new plants have been set up. Workers engaged in industry have doubled in this period.

The growing of citrus fruits is the most lucrative commodity. This item is used chiefly in foreign commerce to bring needed capital into the country to bolster a weak economy.

A democratic nation, Israel has been recognized by 61 nations and was elected to the UN in 1949. Her foreign policy is based on mutual aid with every peace-loving state.

Decline in Sales

New York, April 30 (AP)—General Motors Corporation reports the volume of defense deliveries in the first quarter was not sufficient to offset a decline in sales of civilian products. GM, the nation's second largest money maker in 1951, reported lower first quarter sales and earnings than a year ago. It attributed the lower civilian sales to additional government restrictions on production.

Net income for the first quarter was listed at $127,023,260, equal to $1.42 a share, compared with $141,520,651, or $1.58 a share, in the first quarter of 1951. Net sales were $1,793,085,048 in the first quarter this year and $1,959,879,617 in the comparable period last year.

Death Is Reported

Moscow, April 30 (AP)—Red Star, the Russian army magazine, reported today the death of Lt. Gen. Mikhail Molev of the engineer corps.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, April 29 — Howard Richards of New York motored here Sunday to inspect his summer place in the village center. Howard was accompanied to Shokan by his mother-in-law, Mrs. Hugo Gustafson, Rhinebeck resident, who recently returned home after spending several months in her native Sweden.

Delaware county continues to be plagued by rabies incidents of which the people up there have had more than their share during the past two years. Thomas Howe, an elderly man, and Elsie Harris, 14, were bitten by a fox at Walton village and both are now undergoing treatment. A couple of days later, Albert Kellogg, also of the Walton area, was attacked and bitten by a raccoon while pouring milk into his creamery cans. He too is taking shots as a preventive measure as both coon and fox were found rabid when sent to Cornell.

Callers here Saturday included Ray Winne, county law enforcement officer of many years service. He was on his way to Samsonville in the line of duty and was driving the county's fine new SPCA ambulance. Ray seems to take a keen interest in his work of succoring neglected animals.

Eddie Secor, Ashokan War 2 veteran, has secured employment at the IBM plant in Poughkeepsie. Eddie also has 14 head of cattle and a team of horses to tend to, but in these duties he is assisted by his octogenarian uncle, Edwin D. Secor.

Speaking of cows and such, Robert Foreman of West Brook (way up the RR) has recently completed a 54-foot addition onto his barn which now has an overall length of 153 feet. So now, Robert can go ahead and increase his herd of black and whites from 36 to 50 head. Improvements include steel stanchions, water fed to the individual buckets under pressure, a power drop cleaner and a better ventilating system. No wonder they get lots of milk up that way!

The Rev. Richard Coons at the Sunday morning services in the Shokan Reformed Church preached on the subject, Basis of a United Community.

The Freeman's Samsonville correspondent in his news dated May 11, 1880, tells of the presence over in the big hoop-pole country of divers "wild women of the woods" who while in pursuit of a citizen of those parts chased the luckless fellow upstairs in a house with such determination that he jumped through a window, taking sash and glass to the ground with him. Now your columnist, although fairly conversant with Olive folklore, including that of Samsonville (once yclept the "busiest village in the Catskill Mountains"), never before heard of these so-called ferocious wood nymphs. But where there's smoke there must be some fire. Must remember to quiz our Old Timer anent this yarn, for while he may have been only "knee-high to a grasshopper" back there in '80, and therefore knowing naught of wild women on the lower slopes of Mombaccus, he doubtless has "heerd tell on 'em."

Schools Must Expand

Albany, N. Y., April 30 (AP)—The state education commissioner today urged public schools to begin planning at once expansions to meet growing school enrollments. In a letter to be read at communities' annual school meetings, Dr. Lewis A. Wilson said that "one of the most serious problems facing many schools today is that of overcrowded classrooms and inadequate buildings."

He said the schools must plan to handle an increase of more than 100,000 pupils a year for the next several years because of the increased birth rate.

Issues Will Win for GOP, Brees Tells County Meeting

Without naming his own choice of a candidate in the forthcoming national election, Orlo M. Brees, Republican state senator from Broome county, cautioned voters present in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel last night to consider issues and not personalities when choosing such a candidate.

Requires Horse-Sense

Oftentimes the foremost thought is whether a man will make a good candidate because of his abundance of color, Senator Brees observed. "Plain horse-sense is what we need in this campaign," he said. "If we can combine a winning personality with horse-sense, well that's fine, because its up to the Republican party to lead the way back to courage, and to quit doing what is expedient."

Sponsored by the Ulster County Republican Women's Club, the speaker was introduced by Mrs. N. Le Van Haver. An author, lecturer and poet as well as a former newspaper editor, Mr. Brees served as chairman of the Committee on Villages and as a member of the Assembly Committees on Charitable and Religious Societies, Public Printing and Social Welfare and Relief. He is presently a member of the Senate Committees on Affairs of Villages, Agriculture, Motor Vehicles and Transportation, Public Education and Public Service.

Defeat Socialism

"Primarily as an American, I am talking to fellow Americans about things in which we have a mutual interest. I am very much interested and I know you are as to the character of the coming campaign because this campaign is going to decide whether the American people are going to commit themselves forevermore to the kind of government we have had during the past 20 years which is leading right down the road to socialism, or return to things our forefathers believed; namely, that government should be in conformity with the outline of its very foundation in America," said Senator Brees.

He expressed his approval of change representing progress, in contrast to the innumerable changes which have occurred in government during the past 20 years, and described as being responsible "for the constant turmoil we are all experiencing. Never before in the history of our government has there been a time when there was so much confusion, so much of a tendency to adopt the trial and error method. We have a lot of tinkerers in high places, who have been monkeying with governmental processes, and the American way of doing things."

Senator Brees likened the present administration to a doctor, who was constantly treating symptoms instead of discovering the cause of the illness. This method was also described as having its effect upon "too many citizens in this country, who take pills for a headache when it may be but the symptom of a serious disease."

Adopt Plan of Action

"I am particularly anxious that in this campaign, the Republican party shall be a party that seeks to find out the causes and adopts a program and a plan of action designed to remedy the cause and quit doing what is expedient," the speaker said.

One-Ticket Candidates

Senator Brees objected vehemently to the principles involved in having a candidate run on more than one ticket. "Let's win on our principles and not at the expense of them," he said. Citing the necessity for imbuing leaders of the Republican party to "run on but one ticket," he described the bargaining expected by those of the lesser parties, when a candidate wins. "These people are troubled with the gimmies. If they had to run on their own ticket, they wouldn't get to first base," he said, "and its about time something was done to clean up this mess."

Among the issues discussed by Senator Bress were foreign policy, government personnel, housing, socialized medicine and others.

Relative to foreign policy, he said "I think it is highly desirable that we have a bi-partisan foreign policy but I am not for forsaking principle in order to achieve it. I am an advocate of world peace and the necessary machinery for world government that will guarantee the abolition of war. That is something we have to achieve in the future, and face facts as we go along. Merely signing papers is not sufficient."

Continuing, "we can lead but we need others to go along with the idea. As long as nations refuse to give up sovereignty, Americans won't get very far." Senator Brees discussed at some length his experiences and information gleaned on this subject during 1949 and again in 1951 when he visited Europe. In the former year, while abroad, he attended the University of Vienna and in the latter year, the University College in Southampton, England.

During his visits overseas, he conferred with persons in all walks of life and made "on-the-scene" observances of the Marshall plan and its effects. As a result of his findings, he concluded that what the people in Europe needed most was to regain their self-respect through rehabilitation rather than relief through appropriations under the Marshall plan.

Waste

Numerous examples of waste and beauracracy were outlined by the speaker.

In Vienna, said the Senator, a building costing nearly five millions of dollars and financed with Marshall plan funds, was taken over by the Russians, immediately upon completion. Another one under construction, was receiving weekly inspection by Russian representatives.

Another point made by the speaker was that of reviewing the policies established in Yalta and Potsdam "and all the way down through the past years. Let's look into this and decide the issues anew."

Inherent Powers

On the home front and speaking on domestic issues, Senator Brees' comments regarding the Constitution and its function brought forth thunderous applause at the mention of the current controversy over the so called "inherent powers" of the president. "I can remember, within my lifetime, when we would have impeached a president for such action. Our fortunes and our liberty are at stake and we should fight it out," he said.

Senator Brees concluded his address upon a warning note, "this constant assumption of more and more power and more and more money on the part of the government, is rapidly leading to complete socialism. Let us therefore, choose a Republican candidate and let's demand that he stand for honesty and integrity as against corruption and waste. Let America have a sensible foreign policy rather than a maudlin sentimentalism that will get us nowhere. Let's keep America the greatest nation in the world as opposed to a government that is regimented socialism."

Before adjourning the meeting, Miss Scardefield called upon those present to work and get voters out to register on the days of registration and to bring them to the polls on election day.

Mrs. N. Le Van Haver and Mrs. Charles H. Gaffney were co-chairmen for the evening's program and refreshments served during the social period following the meeting.

Major Would Stay in Army, Even if He Has to Sue

Ft. Sill, Okla., April 30 (AP)—Maj. Tom Brett is determined to stay in the army until September if he has to sue to do it.

The major just returned from serving with the 45th Division in Korea. The former Oklahoma national guardsman was called into service in September, 1950, for a two-year term.

The army didn't think anyone would complain about going home five months early after serving on the battle front. But they hadn't counted on Major Brett's careful planning.

His attorney, Clee Fitzgerald of Stillwater, explained the situation this way:

"He made his plans to cover an absence from his law practice until September and is counting on about $3,000 in army pay until then to meet house and car payments."

But the army says he will be a civilian within 24 hours, barring unforeseen developments.

Brett says he will bring his out the remainder of his time—even if he is sent back to Korea. case into court in order to serve

Leaps to Death

Indianapolis, April 30 (AP)—Merle Bibbs, 38-year-old father of four children, leaped to his death yesterday from the top of a 110-foot grain storage bin at the National Starch Products plant. "You can't do me any good," he kept shouting at a policeman who tried to reason with him. He paced the top of the bin for two hours, then spread his arms and jumped, arching his body like a diver. Firemen maneuvering around the base of the bin with a rescue net were out of position.

Major Would Stay in Army, Even if He Has to Sue

Ft. Sill, Okla., April 30 (AP)—Maj. Tom Brett is determined to stay in the army until September if he has to sue to do it.

The major just returned from serving with the 45th Division in Korea. The former Oklahoma national guardsman was called into service in September, 1950, for a two-year term.

The army didn't think anyone would complain about going home five months early after serving on the battle front. But they hadn't counted on Major Brett's careful planning.

His attorney, Clee Fitzgerald of Stillwater, explained the situation this way:

"He made his plans to cover an absence from his law practice until September and is counting on about $3,000 in army pay until then to meet house and car payments."

But the army says he will be a civilian within 24 hours, barring unforeseen developments.

Brett says he will bring his out the remainder of his time—even if he is sent back to Korea. case into court in order to serve

The program for the evening included motion pictures shown by Abraham H. Lipgar, local photographer, and demonstrations of the Sunbeam products, with special emphasis placed on the workability of the Sunbeam Mixmaster. Charles Washner of Loudonville demonstrated the electrical appliances.

Leaps to Death

Indianapolis, April 30 (AP)—Merle Bibbs, 38-year-old father of four children, leaped to his death yesterday from the top of a 110-foot grain storage bin at the National Starch Products plant. "You can't do me any good," he kept shouting at a policeman who tried to reason with him. He paced the top of the bin for two hours, then spread his arms and jumped, arching his body like a diver. Firemen maneuvering around the base of the bin with a rescue net were out of position.

BOOK REVIEW

To further increase interest in the Kingston Library the following review by Mrs. G. Cramer Dodge is published.

EAST SIDE GENERAL
By Frank G. Slaughter

In this story the author tells what the atom bomb could do to a big city hospital. The hospital is located in the slum section of downtown New York near the East River docks. The author tells what happened during 24 hours of suspense after the ambulance brought in two badly burned emergency cases from a brewery warehouse nearby. Tony Korff, handsome, unscrupulous refugee from Nazi Germany considered them a wonderful opportunity for research. One was dead and the other sure to follow although Andy Gray, resident physician, performed a brilliant operation in attempt to save him. He died without being able to say more than one word to give a clue to the police and press who immediately gathered to learn what they could about the source of the chemicals which caused the burns. While uncertainty remained it constituted a serious threat to the hospital and its teeming neighborhood and plans were set in motion at once by the head of the hospital, Dr. Martin Ash, to evacuate the patients to safer quarters if necessary.

Meanwhile life in the hospital went on as usual. Beautiful, wealthy, spoiled Pat Reed in her luxurious room in the private wing taking a "rest cure" tried with skill that deserved a better objective to again weave her spell over Dr. Gray, this time, since she was fresh out of husbands, with marriage in view; while lovely, skillful operating room nurse, Julia Talbot, deeply in love with Dr. Gray, agonizes silently about the outcome.

Then Bert Rilling, millionaire German-American owner of the nearby brewery was brought in with an acute embolism. Andy Gray's successful operation to correct this condition was an exposition of a highly trained team of surgeon, anaesthetist and nurses acting together with great skill under high tension without without a slip. Bert Rilling would have recovered, for a time at least, but that night Tony Korff discovers on Rilling's hand chemical burns, similar to those of the burned victims which he had brought in; forces the truth of Rilling's involvement in the plot to ship radio-active chemicals to Russia, from the semi-conscious brewer and makes a deal with him to carry on for him for a sum large enough to buy his coveted Park avenue practice; thus nearly bringing ruin to the hospital which he professes to serve.

The author brings the drama of life in a big hospital into sharp focus by his technical description of an extremely delicate chest operation on an accident case; and an amazing one performed on little Jacky, a case known as "Blue Baby."

Other interesting personalities well described are Vicki Ryan, beautiful siren. A girl without moral scruples about the men in her life, but with great professional pride. Emily Sloan, head nurse, who discovered that the horrible pain which she had vainly tried to ease in many of her patients was now hers—and the way that she took out. Dr. Martin Ash (Aschoff), head physician, born in the slums and lifted to the top by his personal ability and ambition; and by his rich wife, Catherine. His lovely, wise Jewish parents, clinging to their tenement home, although urged to move by both Catharine and Martin. The widening gap between this husband and wife, who really loved each other caused by Martin's refusal to accept Catherine's offer to finance the building of a new hospital uptown to replace old East Side General. Neither he nor saintly old Father O'Leary, hospital chaplain, wanted that. The disastrous explosion which rocked the hospital resolved many of these problems, with dramatic displays of heroism on the part of the whole staff—and of Catherine.

The high principles motivating this devoted hospital staff is well summed up in the Prayer of Maimonides, taught in medical schools, "May the love for my art actuate me at all times; may neither avarice nor miserliness, nor the thirst for glory, nor for a great reputation engage my mind; for the enemies of Truth and Philanthropy could easily deceive me and make me forgetful of my lofty aim of doing good to Thy Children."

High School Tennis and Golf Score Victories in Opening Matches

Frosh Netmen Help Defeat Blues, 3-2; Golfers Overwhelm Liberty High, 11-1

Coaches Theron Culver and Bob DeFeis went to opposite extremes in guiding the Kingston High School tennis and golf squads to victory in the seasonal openers yesterday against Poughkeepsie and Liberty.

Coach DeFeis called on experienced players and was rewarded with a thumping 11 to 1 victory over Liberty as Maroon golf supremacy continued unabated.

Circumstances forced Coach Culver to pin his faith on two freshmen—Richard Smith and Marty Kantrowitz—but it was not misplaced. Both rookies came through with brilliant performances to pace the Maroon to a 3-2 squeaker over the veteran Poughkeepsie High team.

Smith dropped the first set to the Blues' Art Berlin, 4-6, but rallied to take the next two, 6-1, 6-4, to nail down a valuable point for Kingston.

Kantrowitz Stars

Kantrowitz was equally spectacular in his varsity debut. After dropping behind, 1-4, to Jim Lorrichi, the uptown youngster reeled off five straight games to win the first set, 6-4, and then applied a 6-2 crusher in the second.

Coach Culver was forced to make a quick change in his doubles setup when Don Dempsey failed to show up. He called on Pete Bruck who teamed with Frank Smith in a losing cause against Jim Havens and Jim Lorrichi, the No. 1 Poughkeepsie tandem. Coach Culver commended Bruck for his showing.

Culver said later that Dempsey had been dropped from the squad for his failure to show up for the match.

With the match tied at 2-2, John Schoonmaker and Bill Zates won the clincher for Kingston with a straight-set triumph over Jim Berlin and Jack McGilvray, 6-4, 6-3, in the onrushing darkness.

Bostic Shoots 75

Harvey Bostic fired a 75 with an incoming 36, low nine of the day, to pace Coach Bob DeFeis' linksmen to their one-sided triumph over the mountaineers.

Harvey and Charlie Bostic and Harold Van Aken swept three points. Brian Smith yielded a point to Liberty's top man, John Beazley, who shot 88 to lead the visitors.

Brian Smith put together nine hole scores of 39 and 43 for an 82 and Harold Van Aken, who won the No. 3 starting berth against spirited competition, made his varsity debut with a sparkling 40-43—83 to grab three points.

Charlie Bostic, generally rated the No. 1 player on the team, ballooned to a 44 on the incoming nine and a high score of 85 for the day but still managed to cop three points.

Beazley, Liberty's No. 3 man, was the only Redskin to crack "90." He rallied with a nice 41, after an opening 47 to steal a point from Brian Smith.

Coach DeFeis' swingers had the advantage of practice over the Liberty linksmen who had not been able to work out on their home course—Grossinger's Country Club—because of weather conditions. The superior condition of the Maroons was reflected in the aggregate totals of 325 for Kingston and 375 for Liberty.

The tennis summaries:

(Singles)

Jim Havens, P, defeated Jack Schoonmaker, K, 7-5, 6-2.

Richard Smith, K, d Art Berlin, P, 4-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Morgan-Kilmer Tie in Booster

Morgan's No. 2 squad did the No. 1 team a good turn by taking a game from Kilmer's Garage in last night's final session of the Booster Bowling League.

They grabbed the first game and that enable the No. 1 trundlers to gain a tie for first place. The No. 1 keglers won two from General Tire, the middle set by five sticks.

The championship playoff has been scheduled for Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the Bowlodrome.

Bill Maisenhelder grabbed individual scoring honors on the last night of play with 533 series on solos of 192, 198 and 143.

Runnerup Bob Tierney posted 206-532, while Andy Krom, Form Coughlin and Ed Wyant had 511s. Jim Howard toppled 509, Rudy Raymond 208-503; John Letus 501; Fred Howard 498; George Spoonhauer 497; R. Herrick 496 and Roger Grossbohlin 483.

Area Squads Set In State Tourney

Local and area squads and a couple of Rochester teams take to the lanes as state tournament five-man activity resumes tonight at the Bowlodrome.

Thirteen combines are scheduled at 8:15 p. m. from Kingston, Sherrill, Rochester, Coxsackie, Poughkeepsie and Hudson. Thursday is an open date but another intensive weekend gets under way on Friday.

The bowling pressure on Saturday and Sunday will be as great as last weekend when more than 200 five-man teams competed.

Among the Kingston squads in action tonight will be Guarantee Radiator Works, I.M.M. No. 1, Blinder's Ladies Apparel, French Dye Works, Smith Avenue Storage and Canfields.

Liberty Night

An all-Liberty and Monticello squad is scheduled for singles and doubles at 8:15 p. m., at Ruzzo's. Forty Liberty keglers and eight from Monticello will see action in the minor events.

A batch of Kingston keglers, with a sprinkling of Hudson and Poughkeepsie trundlers make up the 8:15 p. m. singles and doubles squad on Thursday.

One Tribe Slighted

Eleven Indian tribes once lived and hunted in Nebraska and ten of them are remembered in place names: Ogallala, Brule, Sioux, Pawnee, Arapahoe, Otoe, Ponca, Winnebago, Omaha, and Santee. Only the Iowa tribe was slighted.

Lot of Fish

World's largest freshwater fish packing combine is at Colerain, N. C., where three herring plants can put up a million and a half fish in one day.

Hill Gail 8-5 For Derby Run

Louisville, Ky., April 30 (AP)—The 78th Kentucky Derby looked very much like some Derbies of other years today with the combination of a Calumet-owned horse, trainer Ben Jones and Jockey Eddie Arcaro playing the familiar favorite's role.

The combine moved front and center for the $100,000 added run around Churchill Downs at 4:30 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, Saturday when Hill Gail took wings yesterday and fairly flew over a mile to smash the track record in the Derby Trial.

With Arcaro merely flicking his whip in Hill Gail's face, the big son of Bull Lea reeled off the mile in 1:36 3/5 to clip one-fifth second off the track standard and leave eight other Derby eligibles far up the track.

Annual Report Shows Membership of 598

Elizabeth Schoonmaker, one of the city's new bowling starlets, was elected president of the Kingston Woman's Bowling Association for the 1952-53 season at last night's annual elections.

Miss Schoonmaker, a top ranking average keglerette, was the choice of the KWBA nominating committee and was unopposed on the floor.

She succeeds Mrs. Chrissie Wilson, who served two terms.

Mrs. Dot Flemings was re-elected vice-president. A regular nominee, she won in a ballot against Dot Rawding.

Helene Mollenhauer of Rosendale became the new secretary in a three-cornered race with the incumbent Jo Smith and Jessie Burnett. Mrs. Smith had been designated by the nominating committee.

Miss Margaret Mellert, unopposed, was re-elected treasurer and Lillian Buswell was named sergeant-at-arms, succeeding Mrs. Emma Kubicek who retired after holding the office for many years.

Three executive directors were elected from among a group of five candidates. The new directors will be Mrs. Helen Broskie, Mrs. Tess Moss and Mrs. Vivian Slover. Jessie Burnett and Nellie Alverson were also candidates for director.

Membership Record

The annual report by Secretary Jo Smith revealed that the KWBA reached an all-time high membership of 598 bowlers during the 1951-52 season. The KWBA registration is based on individual membership, unlike the ABC which is registered by teams.

Delegates to the recent convention reported on discussions with state officials with respect to the state tournament held here a few years ago. Briefly, the tournament was described as a financial flop, but detailed reports on the finances were not available.

Drinking Custom

A Scottish custom, still surviving, is to drink a toast with one foot on the table and one on the chair, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Milwaukee — Dan Bucceroni, 178½, Philadelphia, stopped Aaron Wilson, 194½, New York, 8.

New Course Record For Louise Suggs

Stockton, Calif., April 30 (AP)—Louise Suggs smashed the women's course record with a 72 to win the one-day Stockton Women's Open golf tournament yesterday.

Miss Suggs, Carrollton, Ga., pro, breezed over the 6,361 yard Stockton Golf and Country Club course in 36-36, two strokes under women's par 74. Her victory was worth $375.

Marlene and Alice Bauer, sisters from Sarasota, Fla., and Shirley Spork of Minneapolis tied for second with 74s.

Morgan-Kilmer Tie in Booster

Morgan's No. 2 squad did the No. 1 team a good turn by taking a game from Kilmer's Garage in last night's final session of the Booster Bowling League.

They grabbed the first game and that enable the No. 1 trundlers to gain a tie for first place. The No. 1 keglers won two from General Tire, the middle set by five sticks.

The championship playoff has been scheduled for Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the Bowlodrome.

Bill Maisenhelder grabbed individual scoring honors on the last night of play with 533 series on solos of 192, 198 and 143.

Runnerup Bob Tierney posted 206-532, while Andy Krom, Form Coughlin and Ed Wyant had 511s. Jim Howard toppled 509, Rudy Raymond 208-503; John Letus 501; Fred Howard 498; George Spoonhauer 497; R. Herrick 496 and Roger Grossbohlin 483.

E. Sleight Raps 614

Earl Sleight fashioned a 614 series with 170, 227 and 217 to lead the Central Rec loop, Eddie Heins' 212-593 grabbed runnerup honors. Ronnie Mauro pounded 205-567; Allen Hoey 205-564; and Len Stauble 201-550.

Other top scores included H. St. Leger's 205-549; J. Greco 201-549; J. Greco 201-549; Bill Lawrence and Ray Houghtaling, 531; and F. Bonacci 530. Ed Auchmoody fired a 220 solo.

Dolores Joyce accounted for the top series in the Chalet Pioneer Women's circuit with 181-151-146-478. C. Camino had 465; Kay Houska 456; R. Hutchins 453; Emma Pratt 429, June VanKleeck 411 and A. Brown 403.

Area Squads Set In State Tourney

Local and area squads and a couple of Rochester teams take to the lanes as state tournament five-man activity resumes tonight at the Bowlodrome.

Thirteen combines are scheduled at 8:15 p. m. from Kingston, Sherrill, Rochester, Coxsackie, Poughkeepsie and Hudson. Thursday is an open date but another intensive weekend gets under way on Friday.

The bowling pressure on Saturday and Sunday will be as great as last weekend when more than 200 five-man teams competed.

Among the Kingston squads in action tonight will be Guarantee Radiator Works, I.M.M. No. 1, Blinder's Ladies Apparel, French Dye Works, Smith Avenue Storage and Canfields.

Liberty Night

An all-Liberty and Monticello squad is scheduled for singles and doubles at 8:15 p. m., at Ruzzo's. Forty Liberty keglers and eight from Monticello will see action in the minor events.

A batch of Kingston keglers, with a sprinkling of Hudson and Poughkeepsie trundlers make up the 8:15 p. m. singles and doubles squad on Thursday.

One Tribe Slighted

Eleven Indian tribes once lived and hunted in Nebraska and ten of them are remembered in place names: Ogallala, Brule, Sioux, Pawnee, Arapahoe, Otoe, Ponca, Winnebago, Omaha, and Santee. Only the Iowa tribe was slighted.

Lot of Fish

World's largest freshwater fish packing combine is at Colerain, N. C., where three herring plants can put up a million and a half fish in one day.

Hill Gail 8-5 For Derby Run

Louisville, Ky., April 30 (AP)—The 78th Kentucky Derby looked very much like some Derbies of other years today with the combination of a Calumet-owned horse, trainer Ben Jones and Jockey Eddie Arcaro playing the familiar favorite's role.

The combine moved front and center for the $100,000 added run around Churchill Downs at 4:30 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, Saturday when Hill Gail took wings yesterday and fairly flew over a mile to smash the track record in the Derby Trial.

With Arcaro merely flicking his whip in Hill Gail's face, the big son of Bull Lea reeled off the mile in 1:36 3/5 to clip one-fifth second off the track standard and leave eight other Derby eligibles far up the track.

Annual Report Shows Membership of 598

Elizabeth Schoonmaker, one of the city's new bowling starlets, was elected president of the Kingston Woman's Bowling Association for the 1952-53 season at last night's annual elections.

Miss Schoonmaker, a top ranking average keglerette, was the choice of the KWBA nominating committee and was unopposed on the floor.

She succeeds Mrs. Chrissie Wilson, who served two terms.

Mrs. Dot Flemings was re-elected vice-president. A regular nominee, she won in a ballot against Dot Rawding.

Helene Mollenhauer of Rosendale became the new secretary in a three-cornered race with the incumbent Jo Smith and Jessie Burnett. Mrs. Smith had been designated by the nominating committee.

Miss Margaret Mellert, unopposed, was re-elected treasurer and Lillian Buswell was named sergeant-at-arms, succeeding Mrs. Emma Kubicek who retired after holding the office for many years.

Three executive directors were elected from among a group of five candidates. The new directors will be Mrs. Helen Broskie, Mrs. Tess Moss and Mrs. Vivian Slover. Jessie Burnett and Nellie Alverson were also candidates for director.

Membership Record

The annual report by Secretary Jo Smith revealed that the KWBA reached an all-time high membership of 598 bowlers during the 1951-52 season. The KWBA registration is based on individual membership, unlike the ABC which is registered by teams.

Delegates to the recent convention reported on discussions with state officials with respect to the state tournament held here a few years ago. Briefly, the tournament was described as a financial flop, but detailed reports on the finances were not available.

Stockton, Calif., April 30 (AP)—Louise Suggs smashed the women's course record with a 72 to win the one-day Stockton Women's Open golf tournament yesterday.

Miss Suggs, Carrollton, Ga., pro, breezed over the 6,361 yard Stockton Golf and Country Club course in 36-36, two strokes under women's par 74. Her victory was worth $375.

Marlene and Alice Bauer, sisters from Sarasota, Fla., and Shirley Spork of Minneapolis tied for second with 74s.

The National League information bureau has released a memorandum that should clarify many questions that puzzle the average baseball fan.

Written in every day language, the circular deals with such popular items as the fraternization rule, night games, suspended games, batting order, failure of lights and other problems that are routine in major league ball. But you'd be surprised how few fans know all the answers.

For instance, the so-called no-fraternizing rule is directed at players fraternizing with opposition players and not so much to players conversing with acquaintances or home town fans. If, of course, it detracts from his practice, it should be dealt with by the manager. No one in uniform should do any autographing during the progress of a game, and players should avoid conversation with fans during the game. The game should consume all his attention and effort.

With respect to night games, none can be scheduled on Sunday, and by the same reasoning, no lights are to be turned on on Sunday to complete a day game. This applies to all parks. Lights may be turned on to complete day games on days other than Sunday. So far as possible, lights should be turned on at the start of an inning, but may be turned on at any time. The umpire-in-chief is the sole authority to determine when lights shall be turned on to complete a game started in daylight. No inning of any night game shall be started after 12:30 a. m. (prevailing time) but the inning once started, must be completed.

No night games can continue after 11:59 p. m. (prevailing time) on Saturday night in New York, Brooklyn, Boston, Philadelphia or Pittsburgh. The Pennsylvania Blue Laws prescribe that Sunday games in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia cannot continue after 6:59 p. m.

The rule on suspended games states that if, in a regular contest, nine innings have not been completed, or if nine innings have been completed with the score tied, and it is necessary to call the game because of curfew, time limit or failure of lights, the game continues until the actual time set for calling the game and if no team shall have won, in accordance with Rule 4 (10 c) it shall be considered a suspended game.

Suspended games are considered a continuation of the game suspended and shall be played off beginning at the point of suspension on the date of and preceding the next scheduled single game, between the same clubs, on the same field and so far as possible, with the same lineup and batting order, except pitchers. Suspended games do not count in the league's standing until completed.

In the event of a temporary failure of lights while a ball is in flight or a play in process, the umpire will immediately call time and when the lights are turned on again and play is resumed, the batter and all runners shall return to the last base touched by them at the time of suspension. Should the batter be compelled to return to the batter's box, he shall assume the count of balls and strikes, if any, that prevailed at the time of suspension.

Another statement clarifies the doubleheader status and the authority of the home club. If two games are scheduled for one admission, the first game of the doubleheader shall be completed before the second game is started. The calling off of the first game automatically cancels the second game. Umpires are to be the sole judges of the fitness of the field for resuming play, once time has been called because of weather conditions.

The home club is the sole judge as to whether or not a game shall start. Once the batting order is handed to the umpire, the home club ceases to have any authority as to the continuation of play.

The latter rule recalls a bizarre incident involving the 1947 Kingston Dodgers. Paul Taylor, the club business manager, was feuding with the umps when an unexpected shower descended on municipal stadium just before the start of a North Atlantic League contest.

The downpour did heavy damage but Taylor insisted the diamond was in good enough shape to start the game. The umps were equally insistent that it wasn't. So the lineups were exchanged at home plate and the usual pre-game announcements made over the PA system.

The Dodgers trotted to their positions, the national anthem was played and the Kingston pitcher fired his first pitch. The plate umpire called it a strike and promptly barked: "Game called."

From the moment of the first pitch, the umpire was in charge of the game. He thought the field was not playable and the game was called, pronto.

Grand Rapids Squad Tops WIBC Standings

St. Louis, April 30 (AP)—The Women's International Bowling Congress tournament had a new team leader today as Fanatorium Majors of Grand Rapids, Mich., rolled into first place with a 2,779 total.

The Majors displaced Morris Plan of Indianapolis, the early leader, with games of 898, 1007, and 874. Morris Plan held the Class A team topspot with 2,731.

Capt. Marion Ladewig highlighted the Majors' move with a 612 series.

Schwoegler Fizzles In ABC Team Event

Milwaukee, April 30 (AP)—Connie Schwoegler, twice former National Singles match king from Madison, Wis., contributed a meek 519 yesterday as he anchored the Bireleys Quintet to 2,800 and the night's second best slam in the 39th day of American Bowling Congress tournament.

Schwoegler had singles of 180, 173 and 166 and proved to be "low" on the team which finished five pins behind the Weber Beers of Waukesha, Wis. However, neither came close to making the top ten on the board.

In fact, leaders in all divisions maintained their positions, none being threatened seriously.

Ex-Kentucky Basketball Stars Placed On Probation; Judge Blasts Coach Rupp

New York, April 30 (AP)—Three former University of Kentucky basketball stars accused of fixing games were free on probation today, but Coach Adolph Rupp—the famed Baron of the Bluegrass—was hit with the full impact of the college court scandal.

General Sessions Judge Saul S. Streit castigated Rupp and University of Kentucky officials as having to share the "responsibility for corrupting and demoralizing" the three ex-players.

On the recommendation of the district attorney, Streit suspended sentences for Alex Groza, Ralph Beard and Dale Barnstable but placed them on indefinite probation.

In a withering attack on Kentucky, Rupp and college athletics in general, Streit said of the coach who has led Kentucky court teams since 1930:

"The undisputed facts are that he aided and abetted in the immoral subsidization of the players. With his knowledge, the charges in his care were openly exploited, their physical welfare was neglected, and he utterly failed to build their characters or instill any morals—indeed if he did not impair them.

"In view of his conduct, Mr. Rupp's sanctimonious attitude before me becomes ludicrous and comic."

No Comment From Rupp

Rupp did not answer the charges immediately, nor would any officials at the university comment.

Streit said the players frequently were lavished with gift certificates amounting to as much as $100, fat bonuses before trips and $50 tips from Rupp and team well wishers after important games.

"I found that intercollegiate basketball and football at the University of Kentucky have been highly systematized and commercialized enterprises; covert subsidization of players, ruthless exploitation of athletes, cribbing at exams, 'illegal' recruiting, a reckless disregard for their physical welfare, matriculation of unqualified students, demoralization of the athletes by the coach, alumni and townspeople and the most flagrant abuse of the 'athletic scholarship' ," the judge bristled.

The calling off of the first game automatically cancels the second game. Umpires are to be the sole judges of the fitness of the field for resuming play, once time has been called because of weather conditions.

The home club is the sole judge as to whether or not a game shall start. Once the batting order is handed to the umpire, the home club ceases to have any authority as to the continuation of play.

The latter rule recalls a bizarre incident involving the 1947 Kingston Dodgers. Paul Taylor, the club business manager, was feuding with the umps when an unexpected shower descended on municipal stadium just before the start of a North Atlantic League contest.

The downpour did heavy damage but Taylor insisted the diamond was in good enough shape to start the game. The umps were equally insistent that it wasn't. So the lineups were exchanged at home plate and the usual pre-game announcements made over the PA system.

The Dodgers trotted to their positions, the national anthem was played and the Kingston pitcher fired his first pitch. The plate umpire called it a strike and promptly barked: "Game called."

From the moment of the first pitch, the umpire was in charge of the game. He thought the field was not playable and the game was called, pronto.

Blitzen Up Wins

Yonkers, April 30 (AP)—Blitzen Up, driven by Dick Thomas, swept through a field of 15 trotters in the last quarter to win the $3,900 Dunwoodie Trot before 21,720 Yonkers Raceway fans last night. Fifth at the three-quarter pole, Blitzen Up negotiated the mile in 2:09 1/5 to return $4.70, $3.50 and $2.90. Danny Boy Dal-Yum, starting in the second tier, was second and Virginia Flow was third.

Grand Rapids Squad Tops WIBC Standings

St. Louis, April 30 (AP)—The Women's International Bowling Congress tournament had a new team leader today as Fanatorium Majors of Grand Rapids, Mich., rolled into first place with a 2,779 total.

The Majors displaced Morris Plan of Indianapolis, the early leader, with games of 898, 1007, and 874. Morris Plan held the Class A team topspot with 2,731.

Capt. Marion Ladewig highlighted the Majors' move with a 612 series.

Schwoegler Fizzles In ABC Team Event

Milwaukee, April 30 (AP)—Connie Schwoegler, twice former National Singles match king from Madison, Wis., contributed a meek 519 yesterday as he anchored the Bireleys Quintet to 2,800 and the night's second best slam in the 39th day of American Bowling Congress tournament.

Schwoegler had singles of 180, 173 and 166 and proved to be "low" on the team which finished five pins behind the Weber Beers of Waukesha, Wis. However, neither came close to making the top ten on the board.

In fact, leaders in all divisions maintained their positions, none being threatened seriously.

Ex-Kentucky Basketball Stars Placed On Probation; Judge Blasts Coach Rupp

New York, April 30 (AP)—Three former University of Kentucky basketball stars accused of fixing games were free on probation today, but Coach Adolph Rupp—the famed Baron of the Bluegrass—was hit with the full impact of the college court scandal.

General Sessions Judge Saul S. Streit castigated Rupp and University of Kentucky officials as having to share the "responsibility for corrupting and demoralizing" the three ex-players.

On the recommendation of the district attorney, Streit suspended sentences for Alex Groza, Ralph Beard and Dale Barnstable but placed them on indefinite probation.

In a withering attack on Kentucky, Rupp and college athletics in general, Streit said of the coach who has led Kentucky court teams since 1930:

"The undisputed facts are that he aided and abetted in the immoral subsidization of the players. With his knowledge, the charges in his care were openly exploited, their physical welfare was neglected, and he utterly failed to build their characters or instill any morals—indeed if he did not impair them.

"In view of his conduct, Mr. Rupp's sanctimonious attitude before me becomes ludicrous and comic."

No Comment From Rupp

Rupp did not answer the charges immediately, nor would any officials at the university comment.

Streit said the players frequently were lavished with gift certificates amounting to as much as $100, fat bonuses before trips and $50 tips from Rupp and team well wishers after important games.

"I found that intercollegiate basketball and football at the University of Kentucky have been highly systematized and commercialized enterprises; covert subsidization of players, ruthless exploitation of athletes, cribbing at exams, 'illegal' recruiting, a reckless disregard for their physical welfare, matriculation of unqualified students, demoralization of the athletes by the coach, alumni and townspeople and the most flagrant abuse of the 'athletic scholarship' ," the judge bristled.

Big Game Fishing on a Budget

By AL McLANE
(Fishing Editor)

You can be a big-game fisherman for $15 or $20, and if you start your career down at West Palm Beach, the chances are even that you will knock the buttons off a seven-foot sailfish.

A good many people are under the impression that big-game fishing is a rich man's sport, but the average vacation budget will allow a few days on the Gulf Stream, provided you know the setup.

Boats draw an average of $60 per day, which is a low tariff when you realize that the captain has to buy gas, tackle, and insurance, pay a mate's salary and get his own profit from the balance. Allowing an annual haul-out period, and the many days he can't get off-shore because of bad weather, the skipper is not loaded with chips as many observers might lead you to believe.

To keep business stable, most boats run "make-up" parties which means that two, three or four anglers split the bill. Your share runs between $30, $20, or $15, depending on how many you want to fish. More than one novice has invested $20 and locked horns with not one—but two or three sailfish.

This locale incidentally is the "boot" camp for practicing sailfish. This fish concentrates so heavily from Stuart to the Palm Beaches that an average of seven out of every 10 sailfish are released at the end of the fight.

It just isn't cricket to hang one on the dock any more unless the fish is a record. Conservation is a potent word in these parts. The immediate project is tagging released fish so that more can be learned about them. Science can't do much without facts and figures, and getting these depends on everybody who ventures into a sailfish sector.

The "tag" is a neoprene ring which is simple to operate. Sailfish are never gaffed, but are "billed" instead. The guide grabs the fish by its tough, abrasive snoot and removes the hook or cuts the leader. With the advent of neoprene rings, all he has to do now is clip one over the bill before releasing. The ring is locked securely in place by the rough texture of the bill gristle. The fish, of course, is not the least inconvenienced.

Some prophets felt that the gesture was futile, but not long ago a tagged sailfish was released off St. Lucie Inlet. The sail dashed off into the blue waters of the Gulf Stream and then turned up at the bait of a sport trolling 20 miles farther south. This second appearance was two months later—but there he was, seven-foot, 11-inch bundle of dynamite wearing tag No. 333. Isolated as this data may seem, enough of these catches will add up to fact—and better fishing for everybody.

Here to Fix Rate

Arthur L. Bergren, and a crew from the New York State Board of Equalization and Assessments are working in the city to determine the local equalization rate, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk announced today. The men will visit local homes and the mayor said they will appreciate the cooperation of property owners in assisting them when they call. The equalization rate is a factor in determining the annual tax rate.

Grand Jurors Are To Meet Monday

A large attendance of members is urged for Monday's meeting of the Association of Grand Jurors of Ulster County by President Thomas J. Murphy, who said there would be election and installation of officers at the session scheduled for 8 p. m. in the court house on Wall street.

Final plans will be completed for the annual dinner of the association to be held Wednesday, May 14, at 7:30 p. m. in The Barn on Route 28, across the Washington avenue viaduct.

Speaker for the dinner is Harry Rigby, Jr., chairman of public relations for the Kingston Tercentenary Committee, who will devote part of his talk to the court system used by early settlers and the sort of punishment meted out to lawbreakers.

President Murphy urges that reservation cards for the dinner be mailed in no later than May 10.

The SCORE Board

By WILL GRIMSLEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Cold and rain continued to paralyze baseball in the east and a strike threatened to black out a park in the west but followers of the Philadelphia Phillies could find no gloom anywhere today—Curt Simmons is back and he's in the groove.

The hard-throwing, 22-year-old lefthander, three weeks out of the Army, made his first major league start in 19 months yesterday and proceeded to tame the Chicago Cubs with a smooth seven-hit performance, 8-2.

He didn't look any different from the trim, young southpaw whose blazing fast ball won 17 games for the Phillies and helped lead them to the National League pennant before Uncle Sam snatched him up in September, 1950.

Manager Eddie Sawyer couldn't hide his pleasure and enthusiasm hit a new high in the Phillis' ranks.

Curbs Baumholtz

Simmons' effectiveness was emphasized by the job he did on Frankie Baumholtz, the Cubs' rightfielder who had hit in 11 straight games and had carried a .422 percentage, the National League's highest, into the game. Baumholtz didn't get a smell of the ball in four times at bat.

In the season's first head-on collision of east and west, the favored Brooklyn Dodgers strengthened their grip on the National League lead by turning back the St. Louis Cardinals on the masterful clutch pitching of Preacher Roe, 4-1.

The Dodgers thus increased their lead to a game and a half over both Chicago and the Cincinnati Reds, who fell victim to the New York Giants at Cincinnati, 2-1.

Sal Maglie, the Giants, 23-game winner last year limited the Reds to three hits and singled Alvin Dark home in the ninth for the winning run.

Spahn Stops Pirates

In the other National League game Warren Spahn, the Boston Braves' crack lefty, nailed Pittsburgh tighter to the cellar by humbling the Pirates, 5-1, on five hits.

Only one game was played in the American League as unseasonable cold and wet grounds, which already have cost eastern clubs more than a quarter of a million dollars, forced three more postponements.

Postponed were the St. Louis Browns' debut against the New York Yankees at Yankee Stadium, Chicago's game at Washington and Detroit's opening appearance at Boston. They'll try again today.

The single American League conflict was at Philadelphia and the Indian's won, 21-9. The game was a wild slugfest in which the teams pounded out a total of 43 hits, 25 of them by the Indians. Bob Feller was the winning pitcher although he gave up 18 safeties.

Merchants Plan Parking Space for 250 Cars Uptown

Plans for additional parking space in the uptown shopping area are developing and it is expected that definite progress will soon be reported.

It is hoped that space for an additional 250 cars will shortly be available. Two sites are under study.

At the noon luncheon meeting of the Kingston Merchants' Association held Monday at the Kirkland Hotel, President Clyde Wonderly, Jr., received a report on the parking situation and after a lengthy discussion it was announced that a definite plan would shortly be worked out to provide additional parking facilities.

There was an excellent turnout at the meeting and the next meeting is scheduled for Monday, May 12, at 11:45 o'clock at the Kirkland.

Several matters were discussed, including a program of promotions, but the parking discussion took up the major portion of the business session.

Didn't Help Taft

Uxbridge, Mass., April 30 (AP)—This little Massachusetts town was founded by the Taft family more than 250 years ago but that didn't help Sen. Taft much in yesterday's primary. Gen. Eisenhower carried the town, 291 to 147 over Sen. Taft. Many years ago, before he became president, the father of the senator, William Howard Taft, visited Uxbridge. Many Tafts live here.

Kingston C. of C. Annual Renewal Of Memberships

Statements for the annual renewal of memberships in the Kingston Chamber of Commerce were mailed today. In making this announcement, J. Ellis Briggs, chairman of the Membership Committee, stated that the fiscal year for the majority of members starts on May 1.

In the letter prepared jointly by Lawrence J. MacAvery, president of the chamber, and Chairman Briggs, which accompanies the statement, they say, "Our fiscal year, ending today, was successful in many respects. Membership support gained. Publicity-wise Kingston received a great deal of favorable nationwide recognition." Briggs continued, "If we are going to take advantage of the publicity and enlarge the chamber program of business and industrial expansion, additional membership support is required." They also ask for suggestions and the help of all members to develop the kind of a program which will be most effective, the kind members want.

There are 451 active memberships in the Kingston Chamber of Commerce at the present time of which 431 have been paid since May 1, 1951. Briggs stated, "This number only permits a minimum operating budget with no funds to carry on the kind of a promotional program Kingston should have. This applies to both the promotion of industry and business in general."

A selected list of prospective members will also receive an invitation to support the Kingston Chamber of Commerce through membership. Briggs stated that membership support varies considerably, depending on the size and importance of a particular business or industry. This additional support is in the form of duplicate members. At present this varies from two to 14 memberships at the basic rate of $25 each, for one firm or business.

The canvass for new memberships will start on May 19. "Every membership received by mail before that date, will save some committeeman time, money and effort, which he voluntarily contributes, in addition to his annual dues."

Both President MacAvery and Chairman Briggs expressed sincere appreciation for the membership support by members during the past year and also expressed the hope that the paid membership would exceed 500 for the fiscal year of 1952-53

At the request of several members an open Chamber membership meeting will be held, Monday night, May 19. At that time all members and prospective members will be invited and have an opportunity to ask questions about the Chamber program, make suggestions for the consideration of the various committees and also make suggestions as to how the program can be made more effective. Details of this open meeting will be announced later, MacAvery said.

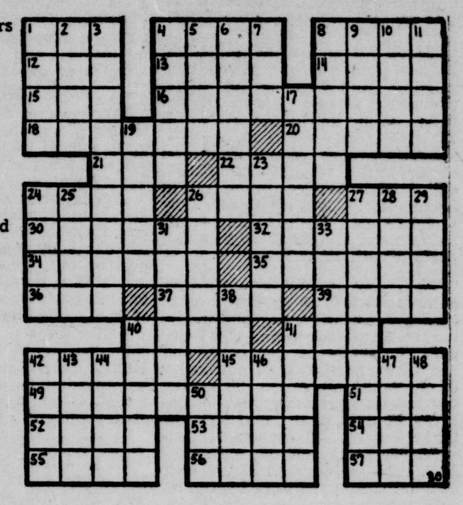
Answer to Previous Puzzle



Admiral Didn't Like General Idea

Honolulu, April 30 (AP) — The millionaire sailor and the admiral in his pajamas had a five-minute chat. Today the sailor is working for the admiral.

Seaman 2/C Bruce Hopping and Rear Adm. Francis C. Denebrink agreed their 7 a. m. chat Saturday wasn't exactly cordial.

Hopping is a naval reservist with a $3,000,000 lumber business in New Jersey. He told a reporter "the admiral wasn't a gentleman . . . He was uncordial . . . He told me to get out."

Denebrink told a reporter he waved Hopping to a seat and Hopping said "I thought I should come by and let you see what kind of a man I am."

Denebrink said he then told Hopping the procedure was most unusual and that Hopping apologized and left.

Was Transferred

The navy said Hopping had been transferred from the salvage ship Reclaimer to administrative duties on Denebrink's staff. The admiral is commander, Services Forces, Pacific.

The skipper and executive officer of the Reclaimer were cleared recently of crew complaints of "petty tyranny."

Denebrink has said the two Reclaimer officers were "unjustly maligned by someone who distributed vicious and distorted rumors about them." He added that the case would not be closed until final action is taken—presumably against an alleged rumor monger. He didn't even hint who that might be.

Played Leading Role

Hopping freely said he played a leading role among the complaining crewmen. He retained a civilian attorney to represent them.

The sailor caused a minor furore at the Bainbridge, Md., Naval Training Center last September. He issued a public statement that navy food "wasn't fit to eat."

Explaining his pre-breakfast call on the admiral, Hopping said he thought it might help "if we could talk together informally."

"But," he added, "when I told him why I was there he got huffy. He told me to get out."

Big Game Fishing on a Budget

By AL McLANE
(Fishing Editor)

You can be a big-game fisherman for $15 or $20, and if you start your career down at West Palm Beach, the chances are even that you will knock the buttons off a seven-foot sailfish.

A good many people are under the impression that big-game fishing is a rich man's sport, but the average vacation budget will allow a few days on the Gulf Stream, provided you know the setup.

Boats draw an average of $60 per day, which is a low tariff when you realize that the captain has to buy gas, tackle, and insurance, pay a mate's salary and get his own profit from the balance. Allowing an annual haul-out period, and the many days he can't get off-shore because of bad weather, the skipper is not loaded with chips as many observers might lead you to believe.

To keep business stable, most boats run "make-up" parties which means that two, three or four anglers split the bill. Your share runs between $30, $20, or $15, depending on how many you want to fish. More than one novice has invested $20 and locked horns with not one—but two or three sailfish.

This locale incidentally is the "boot" camp for practicing sailfish. This fish concentrates so heavily from Stuart to the Palm Beaches that an average of seven out of every 10 sailfish are released at the end of the fight.

It just isn't cricket to hang one on the dock any more unless the fish is a record. Conservation is a potent word in these parts. The immediate project is tagging released fish so that more can be learned about them. Science can't do much without facts and figures, and getting these depends on everybody who ventures into a sailfish sector.

The "tag" is a neoprene ring which is simple to operate. Sailfish are never gaffed, but are "billed" instead. The guide grabs the fish by its tough, abrasive snoot and removes the hook or cuts the leader. With the advent of neoprene rings, all he has to do now is clip one over the bill before releasing. The ring is locked securely in place by the rough texture of the bill gristle. The fish, of course, is not the least inconvenienced.

Some prophets felt that the gesture was futile, but not long ago a tagged sailfish was released off St. Lucie Inlet. The sail dashed off into the blue waters of the Gulf Stream and then turned up at the bait of a sport trolling 20 miles farther south. This second appearance was two months later—but there he was, seven-foot, 11-inch bundle of dynamite wearing tag No. 333. Isolated as this data may seem, enough of these catches will add up to fact—and better fishing for everybody.

Grand Jurors Are To Meet Monday

A large attendance of members is urged for Monday's meeting of the Association of Grand Jurors of Ulster County by President Thomas J. Murphy, who said there would be election and installation of officers at the session scheduled for 8 p. m. in the court house on Wall street.

Final plans will be completed for the annual dinner of the association to be held Wednesday, May 14, at 7:30 p. m. in The Barn on Route 28, across the Washington avenue viaduct.

Speaker for the dinner is Harry Rigby, Jr., chairman of public relations for the Kingston Tercentenary Committee, who will devote part of his talk to the court system used by early settlers and the sort of punishment meted out to lawbreakers.

President Murphy urges that reservation cards for the dinner be mailed in no later than May 10.

The SCORE Board

By WILL GRIMSLEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Cold and rain continued to paralyze baseball in the east and a strike threatened to black out a park in the west but followers of the Philadelphia Phillies could find no gloom anywhere today—Curt Simmons is back and he's in the groove.

The hard-throwing, 22-year-old lefthander, three weeks out of the Army, made his first major league start in 19 months yesterday and proceeded to tame the Chicago Cubs with a smooth seven-hit performance, 8-2.

He didn't look any different from the trim, young southpaw whose blazing fast ball won 17 games for the Phillies and helped lead them to the National League pennant before Uncle Sam snatched him up in September, 1950.

Manager Eddie Sawyer couldn't hide his pleasure and enthusiasm hit a new high in the Phillis' ranks.

Curbs Baumholtz

Simmons' effectiveness was emphasized by the job he did on Frankie Baumholtz, the Cubs' rightfielder who had hit in 11 straight games and had carried a .422 percentage, the National League's highest, into the game. Baumholtz didn't get a smell of the ball in four times at bat.

In the season's first head-on collision of east and west, the favored Brooklyn Dodgers strengthened their grip on the National League lead by turning back the St. Louis Cardinals on the masterful clutch pitching of Preacher Roe, 4-1.

The Dodgers thus increased their lead to a game and a half over both Chicago and the Cincinnati Reds, who fell victim to the New York Giants at Cincinnati, 2-1.

Sal Maglie, the Giants, 23-game winner last year limited the Reds to three hits and singled Alvin Dark home in the ninth for the winning run.

Spahn Stops Pirates

In the other National League game Warren Spahn, the Boston Braves' crack lefty, nailed Pittsburgh tighter to the cellar by humbling the Pirates, 5-1, on five hits.

Only one game was played in the American League as unseasonable cold and wet grounds, which already have cost eastern clubs more than a quarter of a million dollars, forced three more postponements.

Postponed were the St. Louis Browns' debut against the New York Yankees at Yankee Stadium, Chicago's game at Washington and Detroit's opening appearance at Boston. They'll try again today.

The single American League conflict was at Philadelphia and the Indian's won, 21-9. The game was a wild slugfest in which the teams pounded out a total of 43 hits, 25 of them by the Indians. Bob Feller was the winning pitcher although he gave up 18 safeties.

Merchants Plan Parking Space for 250 Cars Uptown

Plans for additional parking space in the uptown shopping area are developing and it is expected that definite progress will soon be reported.

It is hoped that space for an additional 250 cars will shortly be available. Two sites are under study.

At the noon luncheon meeting of the Kingston Merchants' Association held Monday at the Kirkland Hotel, President Clyde Wonderly, Jr., received a report on the parking situation and after a lengthy discussion it was announced that a definite plan would shortly be worked out to provide additional parking facilities.

There was an excellent turnout at the meeting and the next meeting is scheduled for Monday, May 12, at 11:45 o'clock at the Kirkland.

Several matters were discussed, including a program of promotions, but the parking discussion took up the major portion of the business session.

Didn't Help Taft

Uxbridge, Mass., April 30 (AP)—This little Massachusetts town was founded by the Taft family more than 250 years ago but that didn't help Sen. Taft much in yesterday's primary. Gen. Eisenhower carried the town, 291 to 147 over Sen. Taft. Many years ago, before he became president, the father of the senator, William Howard Taft, visited Uxbridge. Many Tafts live here.

Kingston C. of C. Annual Renewal Of Memberships

Statements for the annual renewal of memberships in the Kingston Chamber of Commerce were mailed today. In making this announcement, J. Ellis Briggs, chairman of the Membership Committee, stated that the fiscal year for the majority of members starts on May 1.

In the letter prepared jointly by Lawrence J. MacAvery, president of the chamber, and Chairman Briggs, which accompanies the statement, they say, "Our fiscal year, ending today, was successful in many respects. Membership support gained. Publicity-wise Kingston received a great deal of favorable nationwide recognition." Briggs continued, "If we are going to take advantage of the publicity and enlarge the chamber program of business and industrial expansion, additional membership support is required." They also ask for suggestions and the help of all members to develop the kind of a program which will be most effective, the kind members want.

There are 451 active memberships in the Kingston Chamber of Commerce at the present time of which 431 have been paid since May 1, 1951. Briggs stated, "This number only permits a minimum operating budget with no funds to carry on the kind of a promotional program Kingston should have. This applies to both the promotion of industry and business in general."

A selected list of prospective members will also receive an invitation to support the Kingston Chamber of Commerce through membership. Briggs stated that membership support varies considerably, depending on the size and importance of a particular business or industry. This additional support is in the form of duplicate members. At present this varies from two to 14 memberships at the basic rate of $25 each, for one firm or business.

The canvass for new memberships will start on May 19. "Every membership received by mail before that date, will save some committeeman time, money and effort, which he voluntarily contributes, in addition to his annual dues."

Both President MacAvery and Chairman Briggs expressed sincere appreciation for the membership support by members during the past year and also expressed the hope that the paid membership would exceed 500 for the fiscal year of 1952-53

At the request of several members an open Chamber membership meeting will be held, Monday night, May 19. At that time all members and prospective members will be invited and have an opportunity to ask questions about the Chamber program, make suggestions for the consideration of the various committees and also make suggestions as to how the program can be made more effective. Details of this open meeting will be announced later, MacAvery said.

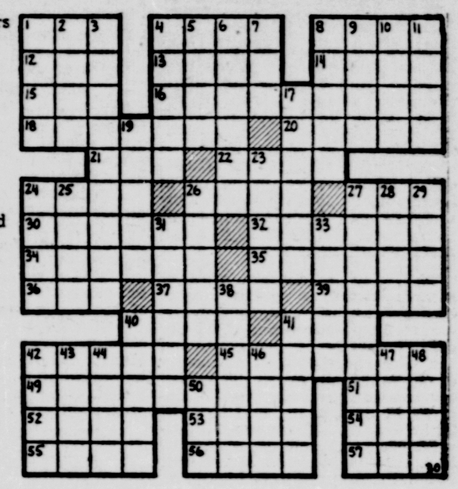
Answer to Previous Puzzle



Admiral Didn't Like General Idea

Honolulu, April 30 (AP) — The millionaire sailor and the admiral in his pajamas had a five-minute chat. Today the sailor is working for the admiral.

Seaman 2/C Bruce Hopping and Rear Adm. Francis C. Denebrink agreed their 7 a. m. chat Saturday wasn't exactly cordial.

Hopping is a naval reservist with a $3,000,000 lumber business in New Jersey. He told a reporter "the admiral wasn't a gentleman . . . He was uncordial . . . He told me to get out."

Denebrink told a reporter he waved Hopping to a seat and Hopping said "I thought I should come by and let you see what kind of a man I am."

Denebrink said he then told Hopping the procedure was most unusual and that Hopping apologized and left.

Was Transferred

The navy said Hopping had been transferred from the salvage ship Reclaimer to administrative duties on Denebrink's staff. The admiral is commander, Services Forces, Pacific.

The skipper and executive officer of the Reclaimer were cleared recently of crew complaints of "petty tyranny."

Denebrink has said the two Reclaimer officers were "unjustly maligned by someone who distributed vicious and distorted rumors about them." He added that the case would not be closed until final action is taken—presumably against an alleged rumor monger. He didn't even hint who that might be.

Played Leading Role

Hopping freely said he played a leading role among the complaining crewmen. He retained a civilian attorney to represent them.

The sailor caused a minor furore at the Bainbridge, Md., Naval Training Center last September. He issued a public statement that navy food "wasn't fit to eat."

Explaining his pre-breakfast call on the admiral, Hopping said he thought it might help "if we could talk together informally."

"But," he added, "when I told him why I was there he got huffy. He told me to get out."

Probation Called Foremost Advance In Past 300 Years

Terming probation "one of the foremost advances in criminology in the past 300 years," Examiner Francis J. Murati of the state Division of Probation told members of the Kingston Lions Club on Tuesday that probation "pays for itself."

Addressing Lions Club members at their regular noon luncheon at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Murati said that an efficient probation system saves money because it enables the probationer to continue working, thus keeping his family off the relief rolls. The probation system also collects millions of dollars annually in the state from fathers for support of children who would otherwise be neglected and might become charges of the state.

Asks Public Support

Emphasizing that the probation officer is a county employe, not a state official, Murati asked public support for the county probation department.

The business of correction is a large business, and its existence is based on need for rehabilitating persons convicted of a crime, he pointed out. Few criminals commit crime deliberately, he said, but most crimes are the outgrowth of some emotional problem.

Asked to comment on the recent outbreak of prison riots, Murati said that, while no one knows what caused them, he believed there was "no indication of any difficulties in our state."

Regular Surveys in N. Y.

He said New York state prisons are surveyed regularly and that the system is set up differently from that in Michigan, where 8,000 convicts of all sorts—insane and sex offenders included—are "thrown together" in one large prison.

Murati spoke of the reception center at Elmira as an outstanding forward step in correction work. Here offenders from 16 to 21 years of age are given tests to determine where they best fit in the state's prison system. However, he added that lack of adequate probation reports often hampers this work.

Founded by Priests

Lovers Looking For Free Country

Los Angeles, April 30 (AP)—The Greek freighter Panagiotis Coumantaros sails for Tokyo today, carrying a pretty Italian lass and her Spanish lover on another lap of their amazing journey to they know not where.

Liborio Sarraolandia, 30, and Rita Cappelloni, 25, told immigration officials yesterday that:

They met in Genoa, where Liborio, a veteran of the French Foreign Legion's World War 2 African campaigns, was working in a shipyard. He and Rita, a veteran of the Italian underground, fell in love.

They traveled to Paris and Antwerp, looking for work they never found. Finally Liborio, in desperation, signed on as third engineer aboard the freighter. But he could not bear to leave Rita behind.

Thus it was that Liborio perhaps perspired a bit under the weight of his seabag as he climbed the gangplank. When he opened it in his cabin, out crawled Rita. Luckily, she only weighs 100 pounds and is but 4 feet 7 inches tall.

49 Days in Cabin

For 49 days, as the ship sailed toward Formosa, Liborio kept his love hidden in his cabin, feeding her on rations from the ship's mess. Then one night the captain ordered Liborio to cease taking food to his room.

Recognizing the jig was up, he introduced the girl. The baffled skipper could only list her on the ship's manifest and wait for time to solve his problem.

The young lovers would have liked to settle in America. But immigration authorities said no. They couldn't find anything in the book to cover the case.

When the freighter reaches Tokyo, Liborio plans to apply for permission to enter Australia, "or any other free country where we can start over."

He added that he and Rita hope to "marry as soon as possible."

No. Opposition Is Registered Against City School Budget

The 1952-53 school budget apparently meets with the approval of the public. At least no one appeared at the public hearing held Tuesday evening at the high school to voice any opinion on the matter.

Attending the meeting was Superintendent of Schools Arthur J. Laidlaw, president of the board of education Clarence S. Rowland and Trustees William Leehive and N. Jansen Fowler, and a representative of the press.

The public hearing was convened at 8 o'clock and after a half hour when no one showed up the meeting was adjourned. This places the school budget in position for adoption by the board of education. Under the budget the school tax rate will be $19.40 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. This is 20 cents higher than the prior budget.

A regular meeting of the board of education will be held Thursday evening at 8 o'clock and the adoption of the budget may be moved at that time.

It was announced today by Ingve H. Olson, ALC, chief U. S. Navy recruiting in Ulster and Dutchess counties, that Miss Lila Bradley, Chief Aviation Storekeeper, U.S.N., will be at the recruiting office, central post office, this city, tomorrow.

Chief Bradley will be at the office from 10 until 2:30 to interview young women from the years of 18 to 26, who are interested in the WAVES, women's branch of the navy. Chief Bradley will give general information on joining the services.

Chief Olson said Chief Bradley's visit to Ulster county is in line with the expanded WAVE recruiting program.

QUESTION: I hear a lot lately about this "Business Interruption" fire insurance. Can you give me some idea of just what it covers?
ANSWER: Basically it seeks to put the owner of a business in the same position he would have been in had there been no fire. It provides for payment of net profits lost and pays such expenses as must continue during suspension of business due to a fire.
•If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be NO CHARGE OR OBLIGATION OF ANY KIND.
